Funding your IRA with your tax refund

Did you know that when you file your tax return you can have the IRS deposit your refund directly into your Wells Fargo Advisors IRA? You can accomplish this by using the IRS Tax Form 8888.¹

Form 8888 uses the direct deposit process to transfer your tax refund to any number of IRAs or other saving or checking accounts that you wish. Please note that if you want your refund deposited into only one account, you do not complete this form, but instead can request a direct deposit of your refund on the tax return you are filing.

Did you know using your tax return to fund your IRA is an easy way to build your retirement savings?

✅ Facts to know

While you'll need to complete Form 8888 during tax preparation time, and with the advice of your tax advisor, here are some facts you'll want to know:

- If the deposit is into your IRA, check the “Savings” box under Lines 1–3 on Form 8888.
- You must have an IRA established at Wells Fargo Advisors before you request the direct deposit using Form 8888. Contact your Financial Advisor to open your Wells Fargo Advisors IRA as soon as possible before filing your taxes.
- Wells Fargo Advisors will assume the direct deposit received will be for the current calendar year unless your Financial Advisor is notified that you wish to have the deposit designated as a prior year IRA contribution.
- If you designate your deposit to be credited as your 2016 IRA contribution, you must verify that the deposit was actually made to the account by April 18, 2017² (no extensions). If the deposit is not made into your account by that date, the deposit is not an IRA contribution for 2016 and you may need to file an amended 2016 return and reduce any IRA deduction and any retirement savings contributions credit you claimed.
- You and your spouse, if filing jointly, may each be able to contribute up to $5,500 ($6,500 if age 50 or older) in 2016 & 2017 to your Traditional and/or Roth IRA. Traditional and Roth IRA contributions are aggregated.

We hope you will take advantage of this opportunity to help maximize the contributions being made to your Wells Fargo Advisors’ IRAs. If you have questions or would like to learn of additional strategies designed to help maximize your retirement savings, please contact your Financial Advisor.
