Data Subject Requests from California Residents

The California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA) permits every California resident to:

- Submit a data subject request regarding their personal data.
- Authorize another individual or legal entity (company) registered with the California Secretary of State to make a data subject request on his or her behalf.
- Make a data subject request for a minor child if the California resident is the minor child's custodial parent or guardian.
- The California Privacy Rights Act (CPRA) amends and expands the CCPA and permits every California resident to correct certain personal data that Wells Fargo has collected.

Data Subject Requests from Non-California Residents

- CCPA and CPRA only apply to California residents. However, all U.S. residents can submit a request to see or delete their personal data through the Privacy Center website or by calling us at 1-844-774-9229. We will handle Non-California requests in a similar manner in which we handle data requests of California residents, although we are not obligated to follow California law with regard to these requests.
- Wells Fargo reserves the right to stop accepting requests from non-California residents.

Requests to See Personal Data

- You may submit data subject requests to see your personal data and how we've used it.
- The CCPA does not apply to certain information covered under the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act, the Fair Credit Reporting Act, and certain other privacy laws. As a result, our response may not include information that we collect about individuals who obtain or apply for personal, family, or household products and services.
- Our response will include a summary of the:
 - Business or commercial purposes for which we collected personal data about you.
 - Categories of personal data we collected about you.
 - Specific pieces of personal data that we collected about you.
 - Categories of sources from which we collected personal data.
 - Categories of third parties with whom we share personal data about you.
 - Categories of personal data disclosed.
- For security purposes and other reasons, certain specific pieces of personal data, such as Social Security number and financial account details, will not be provided. In these cases, we may refer you to the appropriate Wells Fargo contact center or website, unless applicable laws prohibit us from providing this information.
- Wells Fargo data subject requests are subject to verification, legal requirements, and legal exceptions. For example, Wells Fargo will not provide personal data if providing the data adversely affects the privacy rights of others.
- If you have recently contacted Wells Fargo to correct certain personal data that we have collected about you, the correction may not be reflected in our response to you based on internal processing times or other factors.

Requests to Delete Personal Data

- You may request that we delete personal data we have collected about you.
- We may decline to honor a deletion request as required or permitted by law. For examples, see the section How We Respond to Requests below. Also, we may not delete personal data when the CCPA recognizes a business reason for retaining it such as when it is needed to comply with a legal obligation.

How We Respond to Requests

- The personal data we handle is covered by a variety of federal and state privacy laws designed to ensure your privacy and data protection. Because those laws already apply to your personal data (or through other exceptions under the CCPA), we may not be obligated to include any or all personal data in our response to data subject requests.
- The CCPA does not require that our response include certain information, for example:
Consumer Accounts. Personal data connected with consumer accounts used for personal, family, or household purposes. The types of personal information described above are examples; we have not listed all types of personal information that may not be included in our response.
- For additional information about the use and sharing of personal data, please view our Wells Fargo U.S. Consumer Privacy Notice, available at wellsfargo.com/privacy-security/individuals. Other privacy notices which may apply to you are available at wellsfargo.com/privacy-security.
