Deposit Account Agreement

Important legal information and disclosures

Thank you for doing business with us

This Deposit Account Agreement applies to consumer and business accounts and, together with the following documents, is your contract with Wells Fargo and constitutes the “Agreement” that governs your account with Wells Fargo:

- The Consumer Account Fee and Information Schedule (“Consumer Schedule”) or the Business Account Fee and Information Schedule (“Business Schedule”),
- Our interest rate sheet for interest-bearing accounts,
- Our privacy notice, and
- Any additional disclosures, amendments, or addenda we provide to you.

In this Agreement, when we say “Wells Fargo,” “Bank,” “we,” “us,” and “our,” we are talking about Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. “You” and “your” means each account owner, authorized signer, and any other person authorized to operate your account. When we say “We may” or “Wells Fargo may” do something, that means you authorize us and agree to such action.

This Agreement is applicable to new and existing accounts and replaces all prior agreements regarding your account, including any verbal or written statements or representations. When you sign an account application or use your account, including any account service, you and anyone else identified as an owner or authorized signer on your account consent to the terms of this Agreement. We regularly update this Agreement. You are responsible for ensuring that any authorized signer is familiar with this Agreement. If you keep your account open after we change this Agreement or end a fee waiver, you agree to the changes.

We recommend you keep a copy of this Agreement — and any changes we provide to this Agreement — for as long as your Wells Fargo accounts are open. You can get a copy of the current Agreement at wellsfargo.com, or by visiting your local branch, or by phone at the numbers below.

This document contains various defined terms with specific meanings. Some terms are defined within the section in which they are used. More frequently used terms are defined in the Glossary at the end of the document. As you review this Agreement, be sure to check the Glossary for those definitions.

Opening Accounts

This section applies to consumer accounts only unless otherwise noted.

Forms of account ownership

You can open an account that you own alone, or with more than one person. If the account is owned with more than one person, it's considered a joint account.

Different types of joint account ownership

For joint accounts, we treat all owners, who are referred to in this Agreement as “co-owners,” as joint tenants with right of survivorship (described below), unless:

- Applicable state laws require other treatment, or
- We agree with you in writing that the account is owned in some other way.

Regardless of how your account is owned, we don't keep a separate record of each co-owner's interest in the account. We act on instructions from any co-owner (or a co-owner's authorized representative) without obtaining other co-owner's consent, including withdrawing or transferring funds, making payments, or closing the account.

Each co-owner has complete control over all of the funds in the account. We may pay out money from the account upon the request or direction of any co-owner (or a co-owner's authorized representative), regardless of their contributions to the account, and whether any other co-owner is incapacitated or deceased, or whether the account includes a right of survivorship.

Joint tenants with right of survivorship: When you hold an account as joint tenants with right of survivorship and one person dies, the account is owned by and payable to the surviving co-owners; this is subject to our rights under this Agreement.

Tenants-in-common: When you hold an account as tenants-in-common and one owner dies, the account is payable in whole or in part to any surviving co-owner or the deceased owner's authorized representative, heirs, or successors. This is subject to our rights under this Agreement.

Community property: An account is held as community property under state law when spouses have equal and undivided interests in the account during their lifetimes. When one spouse dies, ownership does not automatically pass to the survivor; rather, the deceased spouse can pass his or her interest through a will. Community property does not exist in every state.

Joint owners and responsibility for liabilities on your account

Each joint owner is individually and jointly responsible for any overdraft on your account, regardless of who caused or benefited from the overdraft. If there's a setoff, an enforcement of our security interest in your account, or legal action (such as a third party garnishment, seizure, forfeiture, or tax levy) affecting any co-owner, we may treat all funds in the account as belonging to the customer against whom the setoff, enforcement of the security interest, or other legal action is directed. If your account is closed for unsatisfactory handling, we may report all joint owners to the consumer reporting agencies.

Pay On Death (POD) account

A POD account is payable to the surviving beneficiaries you designated on your account when we receive proof of your death or the death of the last surviving co-owner. An account titled “in trust for (ITF),” “transfer on death (TOD),” or similar language is treated as a POD account.

You and any co-owner may change beneficiaries anytime by notifying us in writing. Generally, the beneficiary(ies) must survive all owners in order to receive funds.

Accounts established for minors

Uniform Transfers/Gifts to Minors Act account. An account established under a state's Uniform Transfers/Gifts to Minors Act that is controlled by a custodian (an adult who holds the minor's funds in the account for safekeeping). We may disclose account information to the minor or their authorized representative. When the minor reaches the age established by the UTMA/UGMA laws in your state, we may pay the funds in the account to the minor without waiting for instructions from the custodian.

Minor by account. One or more adults may open an account, as custodian (an adult who holds the minor's funds in the account for safekeeping) in the name of a minor. The minor owns the funds in the account. The adult, as the custodian, has exclusive control of the account and the minor cannot make deposits, withdrawals or transact on the account. If there's more than one adult as the custodian on the account, each may act independently. We're not obligated to inquire about the use of the funds. When the minor reaches the age of majority, they still will not be able to make deposits, withdrawals or transact on the account except to close the account. If the adult as the custodian (or the last of the adults as the custodian to survive) dies before the minor reaches the age of majority, we may transfer the funds to a successor custodian according to the applicable Uniform Transfers/Gifts to Minors Act.

Transfer of account ownership

If you want to transfer account ownership to another person, we must consent and note it in our records before the transfer is valid and binding on us; however, we're not responsible for determining whether such transfer is legally valid. Assignment of your account is subject to our setoff rights (see Setoff and security interest in the "Additional Terms and Services" section). This Agreement is binding on your personal representatives, executors, administrators, and successors, as well as our successors and assigns.

When an owner does not sign account documentation

Applies to both Consumer and Business Accounts: If a customer identified in our records as an owner or a co-owner of an account does not sign any account-related documentation (including the account application), we still may treat them as an owner or a co-owner of that account, in our sole discretion; we're not liable to anyone as a result.

Death or legal incompetence of an authorized signer or account owner

Please notify us promptly if you learn or suspect an account owner or signer has been declared incompetent by a court or other legal authority, or has died. When we receive proper notice, we may:

- Freeze the account until we receive documents verifying the incapacity or death and instructions regarding the funds remaining in the account,
- Pay (without inquiring) any item authorized by the account owner before being declared legally incompetent or deceased,
- Return or reverse deposits, and
- Apply funds in the account to any debt the account owner owes us before recognizing the rights of a surviving joint owner or other person to any remaining funds.

If we release funds after the account owner's death and have to pay tax or reclamation claims to a government agency as a result, the account owner's estate is responsible for reimbursing us.

Consumers and Sole Proprietors Only: If an account owner dies or is declared legally incompetent, we may comply with court orders and legal documents, and take direction from affiants, court-appointed representatives, guardians, or conservators from your state of residence, even if different than where the account was opened except as otherwise required by applicable law or court order. We may require additional documentation be provided to us before complying with the directives. We may require U.S. court documents for customers residing outside of the U.S. at the time of incompetence or death.

For Business Account Owners: Businesses must provide us documentation of any change in ownership or control of a business upon the death or legal incompetence of a business owner.

Depositing Funds

There are many ways for you to deposit funds into your account: at branches, ATMs, via Bank by Mail, and through the Wells Fargo Mobile® app. You should be aware of your responsibilities when you make deposits. We exercise ordinary care when collecting a deposited item but are not responsible for any other bank's treatment or loss of the item. If a deposited item is lost or destroyed during processing or collection, you agree to provide all reasonable assistance to help us reconstruct the item.

Deposit accuracy

It's your responsibility, not ours, to confirm the accuracy of the amount you deposit. If we determine a discrepancy exists between the declared and the actual amount, we may debit or credit your account and we may notify you if any adjustments are made. We can also use the declared amount as the correct amount to be deposited and not adjust a discrepancy if it's less than our standard adjustment amount. We may vary our standard adjustment amount from time to time without notice and use different amounts depending on account type.

Analyzed business accounts: You may request that the Bank adjust deposit discrepancies identified during any verification regardless of the standard adjustment amount.

Notify us of a discrepancy. You must notify us within the applicable timeframe below or we may consider the deposit correct.

Consumer accounts	within 1 year after we have made your account statement available to you
Business accounts	within 30 days after we have made your account statement available to you

If you fail to notify us in a timely manner: If the actual deposit is less than the amount on the statement, the difference is your property; if the actual deposit is more, the difference is the Bank's property.

Verifying transactions

We don't verify all transactions but have the right to verify any, including those for which we have provided a receipt. We may reverse or adjust, at any time without prior notice to you, any debit or credit we believe we have made to your account by mistake.

Sending an item for collection

We may, upon notice to you, send an item for collection instead of treating it as a deposit. This means we send it to the issuer's bank for payment, and your account won't be credited for the item until we receive payment. Our availability of funds policy does not apply to an item we send for collection.

Our right to decline deposits

We may decline all or part of a deposit, including cash, for any reason. This could happen, for example, if a payee isn't a co-owner, authorized signer, or authorized representative on your account, we can't verify an endorsement, the check was issued from a credit account, the dollar amount of the deposit, the check looks suspicious, or it's a non-U.S. item. If we decline a deposit that you mailed to us, we may return it to you at your cost (including charging you for postage and handling to return foreign currency coin or paper), or retain any invalid checks or other documents included in the deposit without crediting your account, at our discretion. There are limits on the total dollar amount of checks that can be deposited at Wells Fargo ATMs per transaction. We may decline ATM check deposits that exceed $1 million.

If we cannot verify an endorsement, we can also decline to pay, cash, or send the item for collection. We can require that all endorser be present and that you deposit the item instead of cashing it.

Non-account owners are not allowed to deposit cash into consumer accounts. For business accounts, any person wanting to make a cash deposit must provide an acceptable form of identification before we accept a cash deposit.

Requirements for correct endorsement

An endorsement is a signature, stamp, or other mark on the back of a check to transfer, restrict payment, or make the signer responsible for the check. If you have not endorsed a check that you deposited to your account, we may endorse it for you. Any endorsement must be in the 1-1/2 inch area that starts on the top of the back of the check. Do not sign or write anywhere else on the back of the check.

Restrictions on checks are not binding

We are not obligated to follow restrictions or notations written on a check such as, "void after six months," "void over $50," or "payment in full." You're responsible for any resulting loss or expense we incur.

Substitute checks

A substitute check is created from an original check; under federal law, it's legally equivalent to the original check and can even be used as proof of payment. A substitute check contains an accurate copy of the front and back of the original and bears the legend: "This is a legal copy of your check. You can use it the same way you would use an original check." Any check may be returned to you in the form of a substitute check. You agree that you won't transfer a substitute check to us, by deposit or otherwise, if we would be the first financial institution to take the substitute check, unless we have expressly agreed in writing to take it.

Our handling of non-U.S. items

A non-U.S. item is an item:

- Payable in a currency other than U.S. dollars or
- Drawn on a financial institution that isn't organized under U.S. law

We're not required to accept a non-U.S. item for deposit or collection, but we may accept it on a collection basis without your specific instruction to do so. We can reverse any amount we have credited to your account and send the non-U.S. item on a collection basis even if we have taken physical possession of the item.

If we accept a non-U.S. item, the U.S. dollar amount you receive for it will be determined by the applicable exchange rate that is in effect at the time of deposit or our receipt of final payment (less any associated fees) of the non-U.S. item. If the deposited non-U.S. item is returned for any reason, we'll charge the amount against your account (or any other account you maintain with us) at the applicable exchange rate in effect at the time of the return. For information on the applicable exchange rate, see "Applicable exchange rate" in the "Statements, Interest, and Other Account Information" section of this Agreement. Our availability of funds policy does not apply to a non-U.S. item.

Cashed/Deposited items returned unpaid

If an item you deposited or cashed is returned to us unpaid, we can deduct the amount from any account you have with us. We can do this when we're notified that the item will be returned and don't need to receive the actual item. We can do this even if the balance in your account isn't sufficient to cover the amount we hold or deduct, causing an overdraft. In addition, we'll charge you all applicable fees and reverse all interest accrued on the item.

We may place a hold on or charge your account for a deposit if a claim is made or we otherwise have reason to believe the deposited item was altered, forged, unauthorized, missing a signature or has a forged endorsement, or should not have been paid for any other reason. When the claim is resolved, we'll either release the hold or deduct the amount of the item from your account. We're not responsible if we take, or fail to take, any action to recover payment of a returned deposited item.

Breach of a warranty associated with an item

If you breach any warranty you make to us under the laws governing your account with respect to any item, you won't be released or discharged from any liability for the breach so long as we notify you of the breach within 120 days after we learn of the breach. If we fail to notify you within this 120 day period, you'll be released from liability and discharged only to the extent our failure to notify you within this time period caused a loss to you.

Reversal of an electronic payment

If an electronic payment credited to your account, such as a direct deposit, is reversed, we can deduct the amount from any account you have with us, at any time, without notifying you. You agree to promptly repay any resulting overdrafts.

Bank By Mail

To use our Bank By Mail services, you first need to request your deposit kit through Wells Fargo Phone Bank at 1-800-TO-WELLS (1-800-869-3557). We cannot accept cash or foreign checks by mail.

If you need to send deposits before your kit arrives, write on the back of the check "for deposit only, Wells Fargo" and include the account number to which the check should be deposited, and mail to:

Wells Fargo
PO Box 77200
Minneapolis, MN 55480-7720

For accounts located in Alaska, send deposits to:

Early Pay Day (Consumer accounts only)

For certain eligible direct deposits, we may make funds available for your use up to two days before we receive the funds from your payor. When funds are made available early, they will be reflected in your account's available balance. Whether we make funds available early depends on (1) when we receive the payor's payment instructions, (2) any limitations we set on the amount of early availability, and (3) standard fraud prevention screening. The criteria we use for making funds available early is determined at our sole discretion, based on confidential criteria necessary for maintaining the security of your account and our payment services, and is subject to change without notice. The Bank does not guarantee that any direct deposits will be made available before the date scheduled by the payor, and early availability of funds may vary between direct deposits from the same payor. It is your obligation to verify that the funds are available in your account before spending them.

Not all direct deposits are eligible for Early Pay Day. Eligible direct deposits are generally limited to electronic direct deposits such as your payroll, pension, and government benefit payments that are made through the Automated Clearing House (ACH) network. Most other deposits or credits to your account, such as deposits of funds from person-to-person payments services (e.g., Zelle®, Venmo, or PayPal transfers), check or mobile deposits, instant payments processed through the RTP® network or FedNowSM service, and other online transfers are not eligible for Early Pay Day. For interest-bearing accounts, interest on your incoming direct deposit will begin accruing on the business day we receive credit for the deposit from your payor's bank. Direct deposits made available early with Early Pay Day will not increase your account's ending daily balance, and will not count towards applicable options to avoid your account's monthly service fee until the deposit posts to your account and is no longer pending (e.g., the pay date scheduled by your payor). Determinations about whether we will authorize and pay transactions and assess overdraft fees are based on an account's available balance. For example, using funds added to your available balance by Early Pay Day may lead to a negative ending daily balance shown on your statement while your available balance remains positive. In the event this occurs, we will pay those transactions and you will avoid any overdraft fees or returned items. If a direct deposit is not made available early, it will be made available in accordance with our Availability of Funds Policy described in this Agreement. Except as expressly set forth herein, funds made available early are subject to the same terms and conditions as other deposits to your account.

If we've made funds available early and the payor reverses or requests a return of the deposit, or the funds are otherwise uncollected by the Bank, you understand and agree that we may debit your account up to the amount of the deposit that was previously made available — even if you have already withdrawn the funds or it creates an overdraft on your account. In this instance, you are responsible for any fees assessed — including those charged by merchants or third parties — as a result of the overdraft. Early Pay Day is offered at the discretion of the Bank, and we reserve the right to cancel the service at any time and without notice to you.

Availability of Funds Policy

Your ability to withdraw funds

Our policy is to make funds from your check deposits to your checking or savings account (in this policy, each account) available to you on the first business day after the day we receive your deposits. Incoming wire transfers, electronic direct deposits, cash deposited at a teller window and at a Wells Fargo ATM, and the first $400 of a day's check deposits at a teller window, at a Wells Fargo ATM, and with the Wells Fargo Mobile Banking app will be available on the day we receive the deposits. Certain electronic credit transfers, such as those through card networks or funds transfer systems, will generally be available on the day we receive the transfer. Once they are available, you can withdraw the funds in cash and we will use the funds to pay checks and other items presented for payment and applicable fees that you have incurred. For ACH debit entries (which debit your non-Wells Fargo account and credit your Wells Fargo account), Wells Fargo Bank may hold those funds for 3-4 business days to make sure that the funds will not be returned unpaid before we credit your Wells Fargo account.

Analyzed business accounts only: The first $400 of a business day's check deposits to an analyzed account are not available to you on the day we receive the deposits. Check deposits to an analyzed account are generally available on the first business day after we receive your deposits.

Determining the day your deposit is received by the Bank

For determining the day your deposit is received by the Bank, every day is a business day, except Saturday, Sunday, and federal holidays. If you make a deposit before our established cutoff time on a business day that we are open, we will consider that day to be the day your deposit is received by the Bank. However, if you make a deposit after our cutoff time or on a day we are not open, we will consider the day your deposit is received by the Bank to be the next business day we are open.

Our deposit cutoff times are as follows:

Type of Deposit	Cutoff time
In branch	when the branch closes for business; varies by location
At Wells Fargo ATMs	9 p.m. local time (Alaska 8 p.m.)
Checks deposited with the Wells Fargo Mobile app	9 p.m. Pacific Time
Electronic credits (such as direct deposits)	8 p.m. Pacific Time
Original Credit Transactions (OCT)	6 p.m. Pacific Time

Longer delays may apply

In some cases, we will not make the first $400 of a business day's check deposits available to you on the day we receive the deposits. Further, in some cases, we will not make all the funds that you deposit by check available to you on the first business day after the day of your deposit.

Depending on the type of check that you deposit, funds may not be available until the second business day after the day of your deposit. The first $225 of your deposit, however, may be available on the first business day after the day of your deposit.

Except as otherwise explained in this paragraph, if we are not going to make all funds from your deposit available on the business day of deposit or the first business day after the day of deposit, we will notify you at the time you make your deposit. We will also tell you when the funds will be available. If your deposit is not made directly to a Wells Fargo employee, or if we decide to take this action after you have left the premises, we will mail you the notice by the first business day after we receive your deposit.

If you need the funds from a deposit right away, you should ask us when the funds will be available.

In addition, funds you deposit by check may be delayed for a longer period under the following circumstances:

- We believe a check you deposit will not be paid
- You deposit checks totaling more than $5,525 on any one day
- You redeposit a check that has been returned unpaid
- You have overdrawn your account repeatedly in the last six months
- There is an emergency, such as failure of computer or communications equipment

We will notify you if we delay your ability to withdraw funds for any of these reasons, and we will tell you when the funds will be available. The funds will generally be available no later than the seventh business day after the day of your deposit.

Special rules for new accounts

If you are a new customer, the following special rules apply during the first 30 days your account is open. Incoming wire transfers, electronic direct deposits, and cash deposited at a teller window and at a Wells Fargo ATM will be available on the day we receive the deposit. Funds from your check deposits will be available on the business day after the day we receive the deposits; no funds from a business day's check deposits are available on the day we receive the deposits.

If we delay the availability of your deposit the following special rules may apply:

- The first $5,525 of a day's total deposits of cashier's, certified, teller's, traveler's, and federal, state, and local government checks, and U.S. Postal Service money orders made payable to you will be available on the first business day after the day of your deposit, if your deposit meets certain conditions. For example, the checks must be payable to you. If your deposit of these checks (other than U.S. Treasury checks) is not made in person to one of our employees, the first $5,525 may not be available until the second business day after the day of your deposit.
- The excess over $5,525 and funds from all other check deposits will be available no later than the seventh business day after the day of your deposit. The first $225 of a day's total deposit of funds from all other check deposits, however, may be available on the first business day after the day of your deposit.

We will notify you if we delay your ability to withdraw funds and we will tell you when the funds will be available.

Holds on other funds

If we cash a check for you that is drawn on another bank, we may withhold the availability of a corresponding amount of funds that are already in your account. Those funds will be available at the time funds from the check we cash would have been available if you had deposited it.

If we accept a check for deposit that is drawn on another bank, we may make funds from the deposit available for withdrawal immediately but delay your ability to withdraw a corresponding amount of funds that you have on deposit in another account with us. The funds in the other account would then not be available until the time periods that are described in this policy.

Available Balance, Posting Transactions, and Overdraft

Available balance

Your account's available balance is our most current record of the amount of money in your account available for your use or withdrawal. We use the available balance to authorize your transactions during the day (for example, debit card purchases and ATM withdrawals). We also use the available balance to pay your transactions during our nightly processing. Your available balance is calculated as follows:

Ending Daily Balance	Ending daily balance from prior business day's nightly processing
- Holds	Subtract funds that have been placed on hold
+ Deposits	Add pending deposits that are immediately available (see "Availability of Funds Policy" in previous section)
- Withdrawals	Subtract pending withdrawals that we have either authorized or we know about but have not yet processed

= Available Balance

The available balance may not include every transaction you have initiated or that we previously authorized. For example, your available balance may not include the following:

- Outstanding checks and authorized withdrawals we have not received for payment (such as recurring debit card transactions and ACH transactions);
- The final amount of a debit card purchase. For example, we may authorize a purchase amount prior to a tip that you add;
- Debit card transactions that have been previously authorized but not sent to us for payment. In most cases, a transaction authorization hold will be released after three business days even though the transaction may be sent to us for payment from your account at a later date, which we must honor. For some types of purchases, we may place a hold for a longer period, which may be up to 30 business days for certain transactions, including car rental, hotel, cash disbursements, and international transactions.

How we process and post transactions to your account

We process transactions each business day (not Saturdays, Sundays, or federal holidays) during a late night process that includes three key steps. We call this nightly processing. Once the transactions are processed, the results are posted to your account.

Step 1: We calculate the available balance in your account that can be used to pay your transactions as described above.

Certain pending transactions can impact your available balance for purposes of determining whether we will pay other transactions during our nightly processing, including:

- Cash deposits or transfers from another Wells Fargo account made AFTER the applicable cutoff time will be added to your available balance only if they are made before we start our nightly processing; and
- Pending withdrawals that reduce your available balance, such as debit card transactions we have authorized.

Step 2: We sort your transactions into categories.

- + We credit deposits received before the cutoff time.
- We subtract withdrawals and payments we have previously authorized that we cannot return unpaid such as debit card purchases, ATM withdrawals, account transfers, Bill Pay transactions, and teller-cashed checks. Transactions are generally sorted by date and time the transaction was conducted or, for some transactions, the day we receive it for payment, or the time assigned by our system. If date and time are the same, we post from lowest to highest dollar amount.
- We pay your checks and preauthorized ACH payments, such as electronic payments you have authorized a company to withdraw using your account and routing number. Transactions are generally sorted by date and time received by the Bank, and if date and time are the same, we post from lowest to highest dollar amount. Merchant-issued payment card transactions (e.g., an ACH payment associated with a purchase you made using a store-issued debit card) post after all other transactions in this category.

Determining Date and Time

- Cutoff time is based on the location where the deposit or transfer was made.
- For debit card transactions, if we do not have date and time information, we use the day we receive it for payment from the merchant.
- For some transactions, such as Bill Pay or teller-cashed checks, a different time may be assigned by our systems.

Step 3: If the available balance is not enough to pay all of your transactions, we:

- Use Overdraft Protection (if you have it) by transferring and/or advancing available funds from a linked savings and/or credit account.
- Then, decide whether to pay your transactions presented to us for payment into overdraft, or return them unpaid. Paying an item into overdraft means that we pay an item even though your available balance is not sufficient to cover that item, resulting in your account having a negative balance. Returning an item unpaid means that we do not pay your transaction. At our discretion, we may pay a check, other transactions using your account and routing number, or automatic bill payment into overdraft, rather than return it unpaid. This is our standard overdraft coverage (see more information below). Debit card transactions presented to us for payment (whether previously authorized by us or not) will be paid into overdraft and won't be returned unpaid, even if you don't have sufficient funds available in your account.
 - For business accounts, any applicable overdraft fees are deducted from your account on the morning of the next business day.
 - For consumer accounts, overdraft fees for items paid into overdraft are subject to our Extra Day Grace Period (described below) and, if applicable, deducted from your account at the end of the next business day's nightly processing.

Pending transactions can result in overdrafts. If your available balance during the nightly processing is insufficient, the Bank may assess overdraft fees on transactions we pay into overdraft. Even if a pending transaction has been dropped from your account, we must pay it when we receive it for payment. Sometimes, previously authorized transactions may be paid into overdraft if other transactions have reduced your available balance before the pending transactions are sent to us for payment. In those cases, you may be charged an overdraft fee if the transaction is paid into overdraft.

To minimize the number of overdraft fees you may be assessed, we track transactions that reduced your available balance while pending and caused overdraft fees on other transactions. If the pending transactions are then presented for payment within 10 business days after they first appeared as pending, we'll waive any overdraft fees on those transactions. In rare circumstances, the merchant presents transactions for payment with a different identification code than was used when originally sent for authorization and we're unable to match them. In those cases, you may be charged an overdraft fee if the transaction is paid into overdraft.

Sometimes, items that were previously returned unpaid may be re-presented to us for payment by the merchant. If a re-presented item is paid into overdraft, we may assess an overdraft fee on that item.

Standard overdraft coverage

The bank typically does not pay overdrafts if your account is overdrawn or you have had excessive overdrafts.

Except for Clear Access Banking, all checking accounts come with standard overdraft coverage. Under standard overdraft coverage:

- We may authorize and pay checks, other transactions using your account number, and automatic bill payments (such as recurring debit card and ACH transactions) into overdraft and charge an overdraft fee.
- We will not authorize ATM and everyday (one-time) debit card transactions into overdraft, unless your account is enrolled in Debit Card Overdraft Service as described below.

When you don't have a sufficient available balance in your account (or in accounts linked for Overdraft Protection as described below), the decision to authorize or pay a transaction into overdraft is made at our sole discretion, and we reserve the right to decline or return a transaction that would result in an overdraft. We reserve this discretion regardless of whether we've previously honored or dishonored overdrafts.

We base our decision to authorize or pay a transaction into overdraft on criteria that includes, but is not limited to, your account history, deposits you make, and transaction characteristics.

When you make or schedule payments to a merchant (including payments made through another service provider, such as a digital wallet or other payment platform), it is important for you to understand your rights and responsibilities under any applicable agreement you may have with the merchant or service provider — including the methods in which they process transactions and what occurs if the Bank declines your transaction or returns it unpaid. The Bank does not assess fees for declined or returned transactions, but the merchant or service provider may assess fees or other penalties. Even if a merchant or service provider has approved or processed your transaction, you should not assume that the transaction will be authorized or paid by us when we become aware of the transaction and you do not have sufficient available funds in your bank account.

You can remove standard overdraft coverage from your account at any time. If you remove it, the following will happen if you don't have enough available money in your checking account or in accounts linked for Overdraft Protection to cover a transaction when it is presented to us for authorization or payment:

- We will return your checks and other returnable items, such as ACH payments, as unpaid.
- We will not authorize certain transactions such as checks cashed at Wells Fargo, recurring debit card transactions, or Bill Pay transactions into overdraft.
- We will not authorize ATM and everyday (one-time) debit card transactions (such as one-time debit card and ATM card purchases) into overdraft. If your account is enrolled in Debit Card Overdraft Service, the service will also be removed.

With or without Standard Overdraft Coverage, certain transactions (such as checks cashed at Wells Fargo) may be paid into overdraft during our nightly processing and charged an overdraft fee even if they were authorized when your account had a sufficient available balance.

You understand that the classification of a debit card transaction (except ATM transactions) as recurring or non-recurring (i.e., one-time) is determined by merchants, other institutions, or other third parties before the transaction is presented to us for authorization or payment. We will treat and process such debit card transactions in the manner they are presented to us, which may result in a one-time debit card transaction presented as recurring preauthorized transactions and vice versa.

Important: Standard overdraft coverage, including applicable overdraft fees, does not apply to Clear Access Banking accounts. For more information about Clear Access Banking, refer to your Consumer Schedule.

Debit Card Overdraft Service

Consumer account customers may choose to enroll in this service; business accounts are automatically enrolled at account opening.

Your enrollment preference for Debit Card Overdraft Service determines how the Bank handles your ATM and everyday (one-time) debit card transactions on eligible accounts. You can add or remove the service on eligible accounts at any time. It's important to understand that this service is unique from other optional services that may be less costly for you, such as our optional Overdraft Protection plan described in the next section.

When you don't have enough available money in your checking account or accounts you have linked for Overdraft Protection at the time of an ATM or everyday (one-time) debit card transaction:

- If you're enrolled in Debit Card Overdraft Service, the transaction may be authorized into overdraft at the Bank's discretion and an overdraft fee may apply when it is presented to us for payment. For more information about our discretion to authorize or pay a transaction into overdraft, review the "Standard overdraft coverage" section above.
- If you aren't enrolled in Debit Card Overdraft Service, the transaction will be declined and no fees apply.

Debit Card Overdraft Service does not apply to checks, other transactions using your account and routing number, and transactions you've established as recurring transactions (for example, ACH payments or recurring debit card transactions such as utilities, health club memberships, and subscription services). With or without Debit Card Overdraft Service, the Bank may continue to pay these other transaction types into overdraft, at our discretion, and our standard overdraft fees and policies will apply.

Debit Card Overdraft Service isn't available for certain accounts, such as Clear Access Banking accounts, IOLTA/RETA accounts, accounts for government entities, or savings accounts. Debit Card Overdraft Service is a discretionary service that may be removed by the Bank for a variety of reasons including excessive overdrafts or returned items.

Overdraft Protection

This is an optional service you can add to your checking account by linking up to two eligible Wells Fargo accounts (one savings, one credit) to authorize or pay your transactions if you don't have enough available money in your checking account. Overdraft Protection transfers/advances may occur to cover pending transactions, even if these transactions are not subsequently presented for payment. When an Overdraft Protection transfer occurs from a linked savings account to cover the authorization or payment of a transaction, the available balance in that savings account will be reduced by the amount of money to be transferred. That amount of money will be unavailable for other use, and it will be applied to the checking account during nightly processing. If you link two accounts, you may tell us which account to use first to transfer/advance funds. If you don't specify an order, we'll first transfer funds from your linked savings account. If an account you've linked for Overdraft Protection is restricted by court order or any other reason, we may delink that account as a source for Overdraft Protection. If the restriction is subsequently removed, the prior linkage is not generally reapplied unless you request to re-establish the linkage.

Overdraft Protection isn't available for all accounts. Refer to the Consumer Schedule or the Business Schedule for account eligibility and additional details.

Extra Day Grace Period

(Consumer accounts only)

With Extra Day Grace Period, if your account is overdrawn, you have an additional business day (extra day) to make covering deposits and/or transfers to avoid overdraft fees. If your available balance as of 11:59 p.m. Eastern Time on your extra day is positive, the pending overdraft fees for the prior business day's overdraft items will be waived. If your available balance as of 11:59 p.m. Eastern Time is enough to cover some, but not all, of the prior business day's overdraft items, the available balance will be applied to the transactions in the order they posted to your account (based on our posting order practices described in this Agreement).

Any overdraft items that are not fully covered by 11:59 p.m. Eastern Time on your extra day are subject to applicable overdraft fees. Note: deposits and transfers received by 9 a.m. local time on your extra day (based on where your account is located, as noted on your account statement) may also result in us reversing the prior business day's returned item decisions and paying the transaction(s).

Keep in mind that your available balance includes your deposits and transfers, less any pending withdrawals and debits. Deposits and transfers of funds are also subject to the Bank's Availability of Funds policy described in this Agreement, including any applicable deposit holds or cutoff times that may impact your available balance. If you're enrolled in Online Banking we will generally alert you on the morning of your extra day to any overdraft items that must be covered to avoid pending overdraft fees, so long as you have not opted out of receiving such alerts. Alerts are sent as a courtesy and may be delayed or prevented by factors affecting your internet/phone provider or other circumstances beyond the control of the Bank. The Bank has no liability arising from non-delivery, delayed delivery, or erroneous delivery of any alert. It is important for you to keep and rely on a personal record of your transactions to know when your account is overdrawn for purposes of making covering deposits or transfers during your extra day.

Note on Extra Day Grace Period and Overdraft Protection: If you have an account linked for Overdraft Protection and a transfer or advance of funds from the linked account covers your transactions for that business day, Extra Day Grace Period will not apply because there are no pending overdraft fees to avoid. However, if a transfer or advance of funds from a linked Overdraft Protection account is not sufficient to cover all of your transactions, Extra Day Grace Period will apply to any transaction that is paid into overdraft and that has a pending overdraft fee. Extra Day Grace Period does not reverse the transfer or advance of funds from your linked account and advances from linked credit accounts accrue interest from the date of the advance in accordance with the terms of your applicable credit agreement.

Returning your account to a positive balance

If your account has an overdraft, you must promptly add money to return your account to a positive balance. If you don't return your account to a positive balance or you have too many overdrafts, we may close your account. We will generally close and charge off an overdrawn account 60 days after it first became overdrawn, but reserve the right to close it at an earlier date, as permitted by law. In this event, it is important that you make arrangements to redirect recurring deposits and payments to another account. Also, we may report you to consumer reporting agencies and initiate collection efforts. You agree to reimburse us for the costs and expenses (including attorneys' fees and expenses) we incur to do so.

When funds are deposited or credited into an account with an overdraft, you authorize us to apply those funds to the overdraft and related fee(s) in the account. This applies and extends to the deposit of any federal or state benefit payments, including Social Security benefits. You understand and agree that if you don't want your benefits applied in this way, you can change your direct deposit instructions at any time with the person or organization paying the benefits. For information about our rights to apply funds from other accounts you hold with us to pay an overdraft and related fee(s), see the section of this Agreement titled Setoff and Security Interest.

Debit Cards and ATM Cards

We offer a number of account services at a variety of locations that involve using a card. Some services may not be available at all locations. When you get a debit or ATM card from us, you'll receive, and be required to agree to, additional terms and conditions applicable to the card. In the event of a conflict between the terms and conditions and this Agreement, the terms and conditions will control. Additional disclosures applicable to these services are provided in the Consumer Schedule or Business Schedule, as applicable. When you use your debit or ATM card, you authorize us to act on your instructions that we receive through any ATM, merchant or network in which we participate.

Issuance of a card and Personal Identification Number (PIN)

We may issue a card to each account owner to access your accounts. If you don't select a PIN when you request your card, we'll send a randomly selected PIN. If you don't request a card but would like a PIN for authentication purposes, we can provide a PIN for only that purpose (a "cardless PIN"). A cardless PIN cannot be used for purchases or ATM access (see "Telephone banking services" section for more details).

You should securely protect your card and PIN from loss or theft. Each cardholder must have his or her own unique PIN and is responsible for keeping the PIN confidential. If the card or PIN is given to another person, the account owner will, to the extent allowed by applicable law, be responsible for all transactions made by that person or anyone else to whom that person gives the card or PIN.

Using a card to access linked asset accounts

Non-Wells Fargo ATM operators may not support display of all linked accounts, and may not support all functions.

Linking lets you add asset accounts you own (for example, checking or savings) to a debit or ATM card, giving you the ability to perform transactions on multiple accounts with one card at Wells Fargo ATMs. The money for purchases and payments made with your card is deducted from the primary linked account. Using a card at a participating non-Wells Fargo ATM for cash withdrawals, balance inquiries, and funds transfers is generally available for the primary linked checking and savings accounts. We can restrict the number and type of asset accounts you can link to your card.

Some Wells Fargo ATMs in branches can operate in “Assisted-Service mode” during branch hours. When in Assisted-Service mode, the ATM screen’s main menu will display an “I need assistance” option. When using a Wells Fargo ATM in Assisted-Service mode, you may be able to use your consumer card to access and perform transactions on your consumer accounts that are not linked to your card.

If you link more than one asset account to the card, you may designate a primary linked account.

If you don’t designate a primary linked account, the first account linked to your card is considered the primary linked account. The primary linked account for a consumer debit card must be an eligible consumer checking account. The primary linked account for a business debit card must be an eligible business checking account.

If a primary linked account is closed or delinked for any reason, we’ll generally designate a linked secondary account of the same account type, if you have one, as the new primary account. If you have a debit card and none of your other linked accounts are checking accounts, or you have no other linked accounts, your debit card will be closed and you can request an ATM card. You may link a new primary account of a different type (consumer, business, individual brokerage, or commercial brokerage) than the previous primary linked account. Depending on the new primary linked account, you may be issued a new card type. (Note: for Wells Fargo campus debit and ATM cards with school access, your banking access will be closed but your card can still be used for school access).

When you use your card to access any asset account, the agreements and disclosures applicable to that asset account will apply to that card transaction. Additionally, the consumer protections described in the “Electronic Fund Transfer Services” section of this Agreement don’t apply to transactions on business or commercial brokerage accounts.

Using a card to access linked credit card and line of credit accounts at ATMs

If you link your Wells Fargo credit card account or eligible line of credit account (linked credit account) to your debit or ATM card, you may use the card to access the linked credit account at any Wells Fargo ATM. You can use the card to obtain cash or transfer funds from the linked credit account, as long as the linked credit account is in good standing and has available credit. Cash withdrawals and transfers of funds from your linked credit account are treated as cash advances. Each of these transactions is subject to the applicable credit card account agreement or line of credit account agreement, including daily limits and cash advance fees.

Using your card

There are many ways to use your debit and ATM¹ cards — using the physical cards or via mobile devices. See the following descriptions.

You can use your debit and ATM cards:

- At merchants who accept payments through a network in which we participate
- To request cash back when making a physical card purchase with your PIN at merchants who offer this service
- To choose whether and how you receive a receipt when you use your card at a merchant terminal

In addition, with your debit card, you can also:

- Pay for purchases, or pay bills directly with your card, or through a mobile device at participating merchants (see “Using your card through a mobile device” for more details)

At any ATM with your debit or ATM card you can:

- Withdraw cash, view account balances, and transfer funds between your accounts (fees may apply on any of these actions at a non-Wells Fargo ATM²)

At most Wells Fargo ATMs³ you can:

- Make deposits to your account (up to any deposit limits that may apply)⁴
- Transfer funds from your eligible Wells Fargo credit accounts to your checking or savings accounts⁵
- Make payments to your eligible Wells Fargo credit accounts
- Get a statement⁶ of your account balances or the last 10 transactions
- Choose how you want to receive your ATM receipt: printed, emailed, or to your mobile phone
- Use your debit card through your mobile device to perform the ATM transactions listed above

In addition, with your debit card but not your ATM card, you can: Receive electronic credit transfers, such as those through card networks or funds transfer systems⁷

1. Purchases using an ATM card are only available at merchants who accept payments through networks in which we participate and require a PIN to authorize the purchase.
2. Non-Wells Fargo ATMs are ATMs that are not owned or operated by Wells Fargo or are not prominently branded with the Wells Fargo name and logo. You can use your card at non-Wells Fargo ATMs that display the Plus[®] logo to withdraw cash, check balances, and transfer funds between the accounts linked to your card as primary checking and primary savings. Note: 1) Some non-Wells Fargo ATMs may not

- give you the option of choosing which account to access or may only let you access one of these two accounts. 2) Some transactions may not be available at all ATMs, may be different from those available at Wells Fargo ATMs, or may be limited to any withdrawal limit(s) set by the non-Wells Fargo ATM.
3. While most Wells Fargo ATMs offer these additional features and services, some Wells Fargo ATMs are limited to cash withdrawals, balance inquiries, and fund transfers between accounts linked to your card as primary checking and primary savings. The features and services offered at a particular Wells Fargo ATM will be displayed on the ATM screen.
 4. A business deposit card can be issued to an authorized signer on business accounts. It can also be issued to a non-authorized signer at the request of an authorized signer. At Wells Fargo ATMs, a business deposit card and associated PIN can only be used to make ATM deposits, and can only be linked to deposit accounts. When the card is used to make an ATM deposit, account balances are neither displayed on the ATM screen nor printed on the ATM receipt. The card PIN cannot be used for authentication for phone or online access.
 5. Cash advance and ATM advance fees may apply. Refer to the applicable credit card account agreement or line of credit account agreement for more details.
 6. Statements at Wells Fargo ATMs should not be used in place of the account statement for balancing or verifying the actual account balance.
 7. If your debit card or debit card number is used to receive a credit transfer, the frequency and dollar amount of those transfers may be limited by the applicable card network.

ATM and merchant terminal malfunctions

Generally, we're not responsible for damages resulting from an ATM or merchant terminal malfunction. However, for applicable accounts, see "In case of errors or questions about your electronic fund transfers" in the "Electronic Fund Transfer Services" section of this Agreement.

Fees for use of card

Other applicable fees for use of your card, and details about certain fee waivers and reimbursements, are described in the Consumer Schedule and Business Schedule.

We may charge you a fee for making a transaction at a non-Wells Fargo ATM, including withdrawing cash. In addition, the non-Wells Fargo ATM operator or network may charge you a fee, which is included in the total amount withdrawn from your account and applies to your card's daily ATM withdrawal limit. We may waive our fee and/or reimburse the non-Wells Fargo ATM operator's fee, in whole or in part, if allowed by the terms of your account.

We'll charge a fee if you make a teller-assisted cash disbursement at a non-Wells Fargo bank that accepts Visa-branded cards. You may also be charged a fee by other banks and financial institutions for cash disbursements at their branches. That fee may be added to your total disbursement and will apply to your card's daily ATM withdrawal limit. Some merchants may assess a fee when you use your card for a purchase or for cash back. The merchant fee will be included in the total purchase amount and will apply to your card's daily purchase limit.

Daily limits

Unless otherwise specified, a "day" is defined as the 24-hour period from midnight to midnight, Pacific Time. Transactions made in other time zones will be based on when received in Pacific Time. You may use your card subject to your daily purchase limit, daily ATM withdrawal limit, and the available balance in your account. The following rules apply:

Limits on dollar amounts: Your card's daily purchase limit is the maximum U.S. dollar amount of purchases (including cash back, if any) that can be authorized each day from your primary linked account, less merchant fees, if any. Note: If you use your card or card number to fund a digital wallet, brokerage, or other type of account, these Account Funding Transactions (AFTs) will count against your card's daily purchase limit. AFTs may also be limited by the applicable card network. If your daily purchase limit is more than $99,999, you may ask that the merchant process multiple transactions to complete a purchase above this amount.

Your card's daily ATM withdrawal limit is the maximum amount of cash you can withdraw each day from any combination of accessible accounts using your card, less any fees charged by the non-Wells Fargo ATM operator or third party, if applicable. When you use a Wells Fargo ATM in Assisted-Service mode, your card's daily ATM withdrawal limit may not apply.

You can confirm your card's daily limits through online banking, our mobile app, or by calling us.

Limits for your card: We provide you your daily ATM withdrawal and purchase limits when you receive your card, unless otherwise stated in the Agreement. Note: For security reasons there may be additional limits on the amount, number, or type of transactions you can make using your card, including the geographic location of the ATM or merchant.

There's generally no limit on the number of times the card may be used each day as long as the applicable daily ATM withdrawal limit and daily purchase limit are not exceeded, and there's a sufficient available balance in accounts you access for the transactions. If an ATM transaction or purchase would create an overdraft on the account, we may, in our sole discretion, take any of the actions described in the "Available Balance, Posting Transactions, and Overdraft" section of this Agreement.

When we approve a transaction or purchase, we call that an authorization.

We may limit the number of authorizations we allow during a period of time (for example, if we notice out-of-pattern use of your card, or suspected fraudulent or unlawful activity). For security reasons, we cannot explain the details of the authorization system. If we don't authorize the payment, we may notify the person who attempted the payment that it has been refused. We won't be responsible for failing to give an authorization. In our discretion, we may allow or deny transactions or authorizations from merchants who are apparently engaged in or who are identified as engaged in the internet gambling business.

Changes to your card limits: We may, without telling you, increase your daily purchase or ATM withdrawal limit based on account history, activity, and other factors. If we decrease the limits of your card, we'll notify you in accordance with applicable law.

Using your card through a mobile device

A mobile device means a smartphone, tablet, computer or any hand-held or wearable communication device and any third-party application within a device that allows you to electronically store or electronically present your debit card or debit card number, which is replaced with a unique "digital card number," to make debit card transactions.

When you use your debit card with your mobile device for transactions:

- Availability may be affected by your mobile carrier's coverage area, and your mobile carrier may charge you message and data rates, or other fees.
- Your debit card information is sent across wireless and computer networks.
- Information about your mobile device may be transmitted to us.
- You should secure the mobile device the same as you would cash, credit cards, and other valuable information. Password protect and lock it to help prevent unauthorized transactions and notify us promptly if it's lost or stolen.
- When you make a purchase or payment using your mobile device, the merchant won't provide an option for cash back.
- A physical card may be required for access to Wells Fargo ATMs within secure locations.
- You can access Wells Fargo ATMs by holding your mobile device close to the Contactless Symbol displayed on the ATM.
- When you access a Wells Fargo ATM with your mobile device and card PIN, you can perform only one monetary transaction per visit, such as a cash withdrawal or funds transfer.
- If you're accessing a Wells Fargo ATM in Assisted-Service mode using your mobile device, your card's daily ATM withdrawal limit will apply and you won't be able to access accounts that are not linked to your card.
- We may automatically provide third-party digital wallet operators with updated digital card number information, such as when your card is replaced or reissued.
- In certain circumstances (such as when you set up recurring payments to a subscription service), another unique identifier may be generated from your digital card number to be used for card transactions.

Third parties, such as merchants, card association networks, mobile carriers, digital wallet operators, mobile device manufacturers, and software application providers may 1) use and receive your digital card number, and information about your card transactions as necessary to effect, administer, or enforce the card transaction, and 2) receive information about your mobile device. The third-party digital wallet operator may use this information to display it to you or for its own purposes according to the terms, conditions, and other agreements that the digital wallet operator may require you to accept. Please refer to the third-party digital wallet operator's privacy policy and terms and conditions for more detail about how the digital wallet operator will use and retain your information, as well as to review any fees that the third-party digital wallet operator may charge. We are not responsible for a third party's privacy practices or level of security. If a third-party digital wallet operator displays a history of card transactions made through your mobile device, you understand that the third-party transaction history does not reflect complete information about your card transactions.

We may, at any time, partially or fully restrict your ability to make debit card transactions through a mobile device. We may also modify or terminate a debit card's eligibility to be added to a mobile device, as well as our participation with any third-party digital wallet operator. If you want to remove your digital card number from your mobile device, contact us using the information listed in the "Questions? We're here for you" section at the beginning of this Agreement.

Card on file with merchants

If you give your debit card number to a merchant with authorization to bill that card for recurring payments, or to keep it on file for future purchases or payments, the merchant may receive updated card information to process such payments. However, since not all merchants receive updated card information, we recommend you notify each merchant of your new debit card number and/or expiration date to ensure your payments continue uninterrupted. If you have a card on file with a merchant and want to cancel the payment arrangement, be sure to cancel it directly with the merchant.

Authorization holds for card transactions

For all card purchase transactions, we may place a temporary hold on some or all of the funds in the account linked to your card when we obtain an authorization request. We refer to this temporary hold as an authorization hold. The funds subject to the hold will be subtracted from your available balance. We generally release the hold within three business days from the time of authorization or until the transaction is paid from your account. Note, however that the hold can be longer for certain types of transactions, including up to 30 business days for car rental, hotel, cash disbursements, and international debit card transactions.

If the merchant does not submit the transaction for payment within the time allowed, we'll release the authorization hold. This means your available balance will increase until the transaction is submitted for payment by the merchant and posted to your account. If this happens, we must honor the prior authorization and will pay the transaction from your account. In some situations, the amount of the hold may differ from the actual transaction amount since the merchant may not know the total amount you'll spend. For example: A restaurant submits the authorization request for your meal before you add a tip.

You might end up overdrawing your account even though the available balance appears to show there are sufficient funds to cover your transaction. For example: A merchant does not submit a one-time debit card transaction for payment within three business days of authorization (or up to 30 business days); we must release the authorization hold even though we'll have to honor the transaction. When we receive it for payment, it's paid from the funds in the account and at that time it causes an overdraft.

You should record and track all of your transactions closely to confirm your available balance accurately reflects how you spend funds from the account linked to your card.

Partial authorization for card transactions

If a debit card or ATM card purchase amount exceeds the current available balance in the primary linked account when you're making a purchase, you may be able to use your available balance to pay for a portion of the total purchase. The transaction will be subject to a partial authorization daily purchase limit set by the Bank and your card's daily purchase limit.

We'll first try to approve the full amount of the purchase with the available funds in your checking account, account(s) linked for Overdraft Protection, and, if enrolled, using Debit Card Overdraft Service. If we don't approve the full amount of the purchase, we may approve a portion of the purchase using the remaining available funds in your checking account. This is called a partial authorization. The remaining amount of the purchase total would need to be covered by another form of payment, such as cash or another card. If you're unable/unwilling to provide an additional form of payment, and the transaction does not occur, the partial authorization will be reversed by the merchant. Not all merchants are able to accept partial authorizations or process transactions using multiple forms of payment.

Transactions outside the United States

If a card is used to make an ATM withdrawal or a purchase outside the United States, the network handling the transaction will convert the local currency amount of the transaction to U.S. dollars (or, in the case of a purchase only, the merchant handling the transaction may convert the currency). If the network converts the currency, it will use either a rate selected by the network from the range of rates available in wholesale currency markets for the applicable central processing date, which rate may vary from the rate the network itself receives, or the government-mandated rate in effect for the applicable central processing date. If the merchant handling the purchase converts the currency, the merchant will determine the currency conversion rate. For each purchase transaction completed outside the United States, we may also charge an international purchase transaction fee, which we base on the amount provided to us by the network (for example, Visa, MasterCard) in U.S. dollars.

Ending your card use

Your card is our property.

We may cancel or suspend your card or card banking access at any time without notice to you (for example, if you fail to activate your card). We may decide not to issue a card to you or replace your card (for example, if the card has not been used for a prolonged period of time). You may cancel your card or card banking access at any time by calling the number on the back of your card. If the card is canceled, you must pay for any card transactions made before the card is canceled, and you will immediately destroy the card after it is canceled. For the Wells Fargo Campus CardSM program, school issued campus cards are the property of the school.

Zero Liability protection

With Zero Liability protection, you'll have no liability for card transactions that you did not make or authorize, subject to certain conditions and so long as those transactions occurred before the end of the 60-day period described hereafter.

If your account statement shows card transactions that you did not make or authorize, tell us at once. If you don't notify us within 60 days after the statement was mailed or was otherwise made available to you, you'll be liable for any additional unauthorized card transactions that occurred after the 60-day period and before you provided notice to us (if we could have stopped those card transactions had you promptly notified us). This will apply even to unauthorized card transactions that occur shortly before you notify us. If a good reason (such as a long trip or hospital stay) kept you from telling us, we'll extend the time period.

Zero Liability protection does not apply if we determine, based on substantial evidence, that you were fraudulent or negligent in the handling of your card or account, or if your card transaction does not meet Regulation E's definition of an "unauthorized electronic fund transfer" (refer to the "Electronic Fund Transfer Services" section of this Agreement). Moreover, if you do not notify us about an unauthorized card transaction within 60 days from the time your statement was made available to you, Zero Liability protection does not apply; note, however, that this does not impact your rights under Regulation E if there is an unauthorized electronic fund transfer from your consumer account.

For card transactions from consumer accounts: Your card comes with Wells Fargo's Zero Liability protection, which provides you with more liability protection than what Regulation E requires for cards accessing consumer accounts (see "Liability for unauthorized electronic fund transfers according to Regulation E" in the "Electronic Fund Transfer Services" section of this Agreement).

For card transactions from business accounts: Your card comes with Wells Fargo's Zero Liability protection, but Regulation E does not apply.

Additional information for Wells Fargo Campus Card Program customers

Wells Fargo campus cards are available two ways:

- 1) Wells Fargo issued cards
- 2) School issued cards

The Wells Fargo Campus Card Program offers optional banking services to currently enrolled students of participating colleges and universities. These services are also available for currently employed faculty and staff at most of our participating schools. Visit wellsfargo.com/debit-card/campus-card/schools for additional details. Campus debit cards can be identified by the Visa® logo on the front of the card; campus ATM cards don't include a Visa logo.

A Wells Fargo-issued card is produced by Wells Fargo and delivered to currently enrolled students and currently employed faculty and staff by mail after we receive their request for a campus debit card. A card may be requested by bringing a valid school ID from a participating college or university to a Wells Fargo branch located in the same state as the college or university. A campus debit card may also be requested via Wells Fargo Online® or the Wells Fargo Mobile® app. The card must be linked to an eligible new or existing deposit account to be used for purchases and ATM transactions, and it expires five years from the date it was issued. After the card expires, we'll issue you a standard Wells Fargo Debit Card. You may visit a Wells Fargo branch, online banking or the mobile app to request another campus debit card if you remain eligible based on current enrollment or employment at a participating college or university.

A school issued card is an official ID card produced by a participating college or university and issued to currently enrolled students and currently employed faculty and staff by the school. A campus ATM card can be linked to an eligible new or existing deposit account at a branch, in online banking or the mobile app to be used for purchases and ATM transactions. School issued campus ATM cards can be linked to an eligible deposit account at any time for up to five years from the date it was issued, and it expires five years after it is linked to an eligible deposit account. After the card expires, you can contact Wells Fargo and request a standard Wells Fargo Debit or ATM Card to use for purchases and ATM transactions. Or, you can request another campus ATM card from the school if you remain eligible based on current enrollment or employment at a participating college or university, and then visit a Wells Fargo branch, online banking or the mobile app to link your campus ATM card to your eligible deposit account.

Both Wells Fargo and school issued campus cards are subject to daily ATM withdrawal limits and daily purchase limits. For a new campus debit card, we provide your daily ATM withdrawal and purchase limits when you receive your card. Replacement campus debit or campus ATM cards will have the same limits as the card it replaced at the time the replacement card is issued.

Card and ATM safety tips

Card safety

- Always protect your card and keep it in a safe place, just like you would cash, credit cards, or checks. If your card is lost or stolen, contact us immediately.
- Avoid using numbers for your PIN that are easily identified (such as birth date, phone number, or address). Note: Most ATMs outside of the U.S require a four-digit numeric PIN.
- Memorize your PIN, and do not write it down or give it to anyone.
- Change your PIN every six months. If you have forgotten your PIN or want a new one, visit your nearest Wells Fargo location.
- Review your account statements and report fraudulent transactions to us immediately.
- Make sure your internet transactions are secure and log off from a website after you make a purchase.
- Avoid providing your card information or PIN over the phone or Internet unless to a trusted merchant in a call or transaction that you initiated.
- Before using a merchant terminal or ATM, inspect it for possible skimming devices or the presence of an unauthorized attachment.

ATM safety

- Be sure no one sees you enter your PIN.
- Be aware of your surroundings, especially at night, and be cautious when withdrawing cash. Avoid showing or counting cash at the ATM. Put it away immediately and count it when you are in a secure location such as your car or home.
- When using an ATM with a door that requires card access, close the entry door completely and do not open the door to anyone you don't know.
- The activity around Wells Fargo ATM facilities may be recorded by surveillance cameras. If you notice anything suspicious do not use the ATM, and, if you're in the middle of a transaction, cancel it, leave immediately and visit another ATM.
- If you must use the ATM at night, take someone with you.
- Keep safe or securely get rid of your ATM receipts.
- When using a drive-up ATM, keep your car running, doors locked and passenger windows up.
- Report all crimes immediately to the operator of the ATM or local law enforcement and call 911 if you need emergency assistance. For complaints about security at Wells Fargo ATMs, call us at 800-869-3557, and:
 - In New York call: NY Department of Financial Services at 877-226-5697.
 - In New Jersey call: NJ Department of Banking at 609-292-7272.

Fund Transfer Disclosures — General

The following provisions are in addition to, and not in place of, any other agreements you have with us regarding funds transfers to and from your account. The terms “funds transfer,” “funds transfer system,” “payment order,” and “beneficiary” are used here as defined in Article 4A of the Uniform Commercial Code — Funds Transfers, as adopted by the state whose laws govern your account. As used in these provisions, a funds transfer does not include a transaction made using a Wells Fargo issued card. Examples of funds transfers covered by these provisions are ACH transactions, remittance transfers, and wire transfers (whether outgoing or incoming, foreign or domestic). Some consumer transfers referenced in this section may also be electronic fund transfers subject to Regulation E Subpart A as described below. If the transfer is governed by Reg E Subpart A, the provisions of the section of this Agreement titled “Electronic Fund Transfer Services” control in the event of conflict with this section.

Rules of funds transfer systems

Funds transfers to or from your account will be governed by the rules of the funds transfer system(s) through which the transfers are made (“system rules”), including Fedwire, the National Automated Clearing House Association, the Electronic Check Clearing House Organization, any regional association (each an “ACH”), the Clearing House Interbank Payments System (“CHIPS”), the Society for Worldwide Interbank Financial Telecommunication (“SWIFT”), the RTP system (“RTP System”), or other funds transfer system. We’re under no obligation to honor, in whole or in part, any payment order or other instruction that could result in our contravention of applicable law, including, without limitation, requirements of the U.S. Department of the Treasury’s Office of Foreign Assets Control (“OFAC”) and the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (“FinCEN”).

Sending funds transfers/ Means of transmission

When acting upon your transfer instructions, we may use any means of transmission, funds transfer system, clearing house, or intermediary bank that we reasonably select.

Notice of funds transfers

We’ll notify you of funds electronically debited from or credited to your account through the account statement covering the period in which the transaction occurred. Unless required by law, we’re under no obligation to provide you with any additional notice or receipt.

Reliance on identification numbers

If an instruction or order to transfer funds describes the party to receive payment inconsistently by name and account number, we’ll rely on the beneficiary account number even if the account number identifies a party different from the named recipient. If an instruction or order to transfer funds describes a participating financial institution inconsistently by name and identification number, the identification number may be relied on as the proper identification of the financial institution.

Erroneous payment orders

You could lose funds if you provide incomplete or inaccurate information in your payment orders. We have no obligation to detect errors you make in payment orders (for example, paying the wrong person or the wrong amount). Just because we detect an error once, we won’t be obligated to detect future errors. We’ll rely on the beneficiary account number and beneficiary bank identification number (e.g., IBAN [International Bank Account Number], RTN [Routing Transit Number] or SWIFT BIC [Business Identifier Code]) you provide with an instruction or order.

Your duty to report unauthorized or erroneous funds transfers

You’ll exercise ordinary care to determine whether a funds transfer to or from your account was either not authorized or erroneous. Unless a different time period is noted in this Agreement, you must notify us of the facts within a reasonable time, not exceeding 14 days after (i) you have received your account statement from us on which the funds transfer appears or (ii) you otherwise have notice of the funds transfer, whichever is earlier. If you don’t notify us within 14 days, you are precluded from asserting we are not entitled to retain payment for the funds transfer.

ACH transactions

These additional terms apply to payments to or from your account that you transmit through an ACH:

- Your rights as to payments to or from your account will be based on the laws governing your account.
- When we credit your account for an ACH payment, the payment is provisional until we receive final settlement through a Federal Reserve Bank or otherwise receive payment. For ACH Debit entries, where you debit your non-Wells Fargo account, Wells Fargo Bank may hold those funds for 3-4 business days before making them available to your Wells Fargo account.
- If we don’t receive final settlement or payment, we’re entitled to a refund from you for the amount credited to your account and the sender of the payment will not be considered to have made the payment to you.
- Any Originating Depository Financial Institution (ODFI) may initiate, pursuant to ACH Operating Rules, ACH debit entries to your account for presentment or re-presentment of items you write or authorize.

Return of ACH debit entries

Consumer accounts only: Under the ACH Rules, the Bank can seek the return of an unauthorized consumer ACH debit entry until midnight of the 60th calendar day following the business day the Bank posted the ACH debit entry to your account. To ensure the Bank is able to meet this return deadline, you must notify us no later than 15 days after we send or otherwise make available to you the account statement that reflects the unauthorized transaction. This right of return is in addition to your rights described in the “Electronic Fund Transfer Services” section of this Agreement.

Business accounts only: Under the ACH Rules, the Bank can seek the return of an unauthorized non-consumer ACH debit entry until midnight of the business day following the business day the Bank posted the ACH debit entry to your account. To ensure the Bank is able to meet this return deadline, you must notify us no later than 3:00 p.m. Central Time on the business day following the business day the Bank posted the ACH debit entry to your account. If you don't notify us in a timely manner of the unauthorized non-consumer ACH debit entry, we won't be able to return it without the cooperation and agreement of the originating bank and the originator of the debit entry. Any other effort to recover the funds must occur solely between you and the originator of the entry.

Liability for transactions not covered by Regulation E

For purchases and other transactions in consumer accounts not governed by Regulation E, you're liable for all losses relating to unauthorized funds transfers that don't result solely from our negligence or intentional misconduct, unless the laws governing your account require lesser liability.

Receiving instant payments

The following additional terms apply to any instant payments we receive for credit to your account through an instant payments network, which may be the RTP® network operated by a third party, The Clearing House, or another third party network. The terms "sender," "receiver," and "sending participant" are used here as defined in the system rules governing the RTP network. In addition to the rules of the instant payments network, instant payments will be governed by the laws of the state of New York, including New York's version of Article 4A of the Uniform Commercial Code, as applicable, without regard to its conflict of laws principles.

- Instant payments networks may be used only for eligible payments between a sender and receiver whose accounts are located in the United States. You may not send or receive instant payments on behalf of any person or entity not domiciled in the United States. Instant payments that are permitted under the rules of the instant payments network and our requirements are considered eligible payments for purposes of this Agreement.
- Instant payments cannot be cancelled or amended by the sender. If we receive a message from a sending participant requesting return of an instant payment received for credit to your account, we may notify you of that request. You're not obligated to comply with any such request for return of funds. Any dispute between you and the sender of an instant payment should be resolved between you and the sender.
- If you don't wish to accept an instant payment credit received to your account, you may request that we return such payment to the sender. We may, at our sole discretion, attempt to honor such request but will have no liability for our failure to do so.
- Instant payments are typically completed within thirty (30) seconds of transmission of the instant payment by the sender, unless the instant payment fails or is delayed due to a review by us or the sending participant, such as for fraud, regulatory, or compliance purposes. Transaction limits imposed by the instant payments network or sending participant may also prevent instant payments from being sent to your account.

We're under no obligation to honor, in whole or in part, any payment order or other instruction that could result in our contravention of applicable law, including, without limitation, requirements of the U.S. Department of the Treasury's Office of Foreign Assets Control ("OFAC") and the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network ("FinCEN").

Remittance transfers

Remittance transfers are initiated by consumers primarily for personal, family, or household purposes, and are sent outside the United States and its territories. Each time you initiate a remittance transfer, you'll receive disclosures outlining additional rights provided by federal law. You also may obtain a copy of those rights on wells Fargo.com or in any branch.

Incoming international wire transfers

Incoming wire transfers received in a foreign currency for payment into your account will be converted into U.S. dollars using the applicable exchange rate without prior notice to you. For more information, see the "Applicable Exchange Rate" section of this account agreement.

Funds Transfer Security Procedure

You agree that we will follow a commercially reasonable security procedure of our choice to verify the authenticity of an instruction we receive to send a funds transfer from your account. The security procedure may vary depending on whether we receive the instruction in person, in writing, by phone, or via online or mobile. If we offer, but you decline, an optional security procedure that is commercially reasonable, then you agree that the security procedure chosen to verify the payment order is commercially reasonable for your transaction. You agree to be bound by any funds transfer request that Wells Fargo receives and verifies following a commercially reasonable security procedure, even if the payment order was not authorized by you. More details about the security procedures may be found in the applicable funds transfer agreement or Online Access Agreement.

Consumer accounts only: This provision applies to fund transfers governed by Article 4A of the Uniform Commercial Code and not electronic fund transfers governed by Regulation E, Subpart A (except for certain "instant payments" where both may apply). For more information about your rights and responsibilities related to electronic fund transfers as defined by Regulation E, please see the section of this Agreement titled "Electronic Fund Transfer Services."

Rejecting a Funds Transfer Request

We may reject a funds transfer request without any liability to you. Some examples may include, if you don't have enough available funds in your account for the funds transfer and applicable fees, if we are unable to verify a payment order or person requesting the funds transfer, or if we are unable to complete the request for any other reason. If required by law, we will notify you of our decision to reject the request.

General rules for electronic fund transfer services

When you read this section, you'll see references to Regulation E which provides certain protections and responsibilities.

Electronic Fund Transfer Services

(Consumer accounts only)

The following provisions apply to electronic fund transfers to or from your consumer deposit account that are governed by Subpart A of Regulation E.

We offer a variety of electronic fund transfer services you can use to access funds in your account(s) and perform other transactions detailed in this section. Common examples of electronic fund transfers that are subject to this section include debit card, ATM, and Automated Clearing House (ACH) transactions, direct deposits, and certain online or mobile banking transactions. We describe some of these services in this section and also provide certain disclosures that apply to the use of electronic fund transfer services with your consumer account. Some of these services are also governed by separate agreements we give to you at the time your card is mailed or added to a mobile device or you sign up for the service (e.g., ATM and debit cards, online, and mobile banking).

Note: Among other things, these provisions don't apply to wire transfers or remittance transfers (e.g., ExpressSend® and consumer-initiated international wire transfers). Remittance transfers you send through us are governed by a separate agreement you enter into when you sign up for the service or send the remittance transfer. Refer to the "Funds Transfer Disclosures — General" section of this Agreement.

When you read this section, you'll see references to Regulation E or Reg E. Regulation E sets forth the basic rights, liabilities, and responsibilities of consumers who use electronic fund transfers and of the banks or other persons who offer these services. It includes the actions you need to take if you believe your card, your card number, your PIN, or other access device has been lost or stolen, or if you notice an error or unauthorized electronic fund transfer on your account and the rules regarding your potential liability for these transfers. Your responsibilities and protections under Regulation E are described in more detail below.

Where any words or terms used within this section are defined in Regulation E, they shall have the same meanings when used in this section. For example, the term "unauthorized electronic fund transfer" as used in this section shall mean an electronic fund transfer from your account that is initiated by a person other than you without actual authority to initiate the transfer and from which you receive no benefit.

The following table summarizes the types of transactions to which Regulation E applies.

Electronic fund transfer	Description	Transaction covered by Reg E
Card transactions
Debit and ATM cards	Use your Debit or ATM card to make purchases, withdrawals, payments, transfers, and other transactions as described above in the "Debit Cards and ATM Cards" section of this Agreement.	✓

Payments	One-time or recurring payments from your account that you initiate or preauthorize for withdrawal from your account	✓

Electronic check conversions	Electronic fund transfer using information from a check (e.g., the Bank's routing number and your account number)	✓
Phone Bank transactions
Phone Bank transactions	Not under a written agreement or plan: A request to the Phone Bank to make a transaction to or from your account
Phone Bank transactions	Under a written agreement or plan: The Phone Bank, under an agreement, can make transactions to and from your account	✓

Liability for unauthorized electronic fund transfers according to Regulation E

Tell us AT ONCE if you believe your card, card number, PIN, or other access device has been lost or stolen, or if you believe that an electronic fund transfer has been made by someone other than you and without your permission. Telephoning is the best way of keeping your possible losses down. You could lose all the money in your account (plus funds in any line of credit, savings account, or credit card linked to your account or as part of an Overdraft Protection plan).

If you tell us within two business days after you learn of the loss or theft of your card, card number, PIN, or other access device, you can lose no more than $50 if someone used your credentials without your permission (however, see “Zero Liability protection” in the “Debit Cards and ATM Cards” section of this Agreement).

If you do NOT tell us within two business days after you learn of the loss or theft of your card, card number, PIN, or other access device, and we can prove we could have stopped someone from using your credentials without your permission if you had told us, you could lose up to $500 (however, see “Zero Liability protection” in the “Debit Cards and ATM Cards” section of this Agreement).

Also, if your account statement shows transfers that you did not make or authorize, including those made by your card, card number, PIN, other access device, or other means, tell us at once. If you do not notify us within 60 days after the statement was mailed or was otherwise made available to you, you will be liable for any additional unauthorized electronic fund transfers that occurred after the 60-day period and before you provided notice to us (if we can prove we could have stopped those transactions had you promptly notified us). This will apply even to unauthorized electronic fund transfers that occur shortly before you notify us. If a good reason (such as a long trip or hospital stay) kept you from telling us, we will extend the time periods.

Contact in the event of unauthorized electronic fund transfers

If you believe your card, card number, PIN, or other access device, has been lost or stolen, call us at 1-800-869-3557 or the number listed on your statement, or write to us at Wells Fargo, Customer Correspondence, PO Box 6995, Portland, OR, 97228-6995.

You should also call the number or write to the address listed above if you believe a transfer has been made by someone other than you and without your permission.

Preauthorized credits to your account

If you have arranged to have direct deposits made to your account at least once every 60 days from the same person or company, you can check your online or mobile banking, enroll in account alerts, or call us at 1-800-869-3557 to find out whether or not the deposit has been made.

Handling preauthorized payments

Right to stop payment: If you have told us in advance to make regular (recurring) payments out of your account, you can stop any of these payments. Here’s how: Call us at 1-800-869-3557, or write to us at Wells Fargo, Customer Correspondence, PO Box 6995, Portland, OR, 97228-6995, in time for us to receive your request three business days or more before the payment is scheduled to be made. If you call, we may also require you to put your request in writing and get it to us within 14 days after you call. There is no fee to stop a recurring preauthorized payment using the debit card.

Notice of varying amounts: If the amount of these regular (recurring) payments vary, the party you are going to pay should tell you, 10 days before each payment, when it will be made and how much it will be. (The party you are going to pay may allow you to choose to get this notice only when the payment would differ by more than a certain amount from the previous payment, or when the amount would fall outside certain limits that you set.)

Liability for failure to stop payment: If you order us to stop one of these payments three business days or more before the transfer is scheduled, and we do not do so, we will pay for your losses or damages.

Note: We cannot stop payment on a purchase transaction unless it is a preauthorized electronic fund transfer.

Electronic check conversion

You may authorize a merchant or other payee to make a one-time electronic payment from your account using information from your check to 1) pay for purchases, or 2) pay bills.

Account inquiry

You have the right to contact us to find out whether an electronic transfer has been credited or debited to your account. Call us at 1-800-869-3557, or write to us at Wells Fargo, Customer Correspondence, PO Box 6995, Portland, OR 97228-6995.

Receipts

You can get a receipt at the time you make any transfer to or from your account using one of our ATMs or when you use your card at a merchant terminal.

Our liability for failure to make transfers

If we do not complete a transfer to or from your account on time or in the correct amount according to our agreement with you, we will be liable for your losses or damages. However, there are some exceptions. For instance, we will not be liable if:

- Through no fault of ours, you do not have enough money in your account to make the transfer,
- The transfer would go over the credit limit on a credit account linked for Overdraft Protection,
- The ATM where you are making the transfer does not have enough cash,
- The terminal or system was not working properly and you knew about the breakdown when you started the transfer,
- Circumstances beyond our control (such as fire or flood) prevent the transfer, despite reasonable precautions we have taken, or
- There is some other exception stated in our Agreement with you.

In case of errors or questions about your electronic fund transfers

If you see an error or have questions about your electronic transfers, think your deposit statement or receipt is wrong, or you need more information about a transfer listed on an account statement or receipt, call us at 1-800-869-3557 or the number listed on your account statement, or write to us at Wells Fargo, Customer Correspondence, PO Box 6995, Portland, OR, 97228-6995 as soon as you can. We must hear from you no later than 60 days after we send the FIRST account statement on which the problem or error appeared, and you should take the following actions:

- Tell us your name and account number (if any) and the dollar amount of the suspected error.
- Describe the error or the transfer you are unsure about, and explain as clearly as you can why you believe it is an error, or why you need more information.

If you tell us in person or by phone, we may require that you send us your complaint or question in writing within 10 business days.

Investigations

We will determine whether an error occurred within 10 business days after we hear from you and will correct any error promptly. If we need more time, however, we may take up to 45 days to investigate your complaint or question. If we need more time, we will credit your account within 10 business days for the amount you think is in error, so that you will have the use of the money during the time it takes us to complete our investigation. If we ask you to put your complaint or question in writing and we do not receive it within 10 business days, we may not credit your account.

For errors involving new accounts, point-of-sale transactions, or foreign-initiated transactions, we may take up to 90 days to investigate your complaint or question. For new accounts, we may take up to 20 business days to credit your account for the amount you think is in error.

We will tell you the results within three business days after completing our investigation. If we decide that there was no error, or an error occurred that is different from the one you described, we will send you a written explanation. You may ask for copies of the documents that we used in our investigation.

Other Account Services and Restrictions

Telephone banking services

You may use our automated phone system to get account information, transfer funds between Wells Fargo accounts, or pay certain Wells Fargo credit bills. To access this service, you must have a valid PIN, either for your debit or ATM card, or a cardless PIN issued only for authentication purposes. If you don't have a valid PIN, we'll ask you for information to verify your identity. We may cancel your cardless PIN at any time without notice, including after six months of non-use. We may comply with any request of a caller using Wells Fargo's telephone banking services, provided we authenticate the caller in compliance with one of the identity verification procedures described in this paragraph.

Large cash withdrawals or deposits

We may place reasonable restrictions on large cash withdrawals. These restrictions may include requiring you to provide reasonable advance notice to ensure we have sufficient cash on hand. We don't have any obligation to provide security if you make a large cash withdrawal. If you want to deposit a large amount of cash, we may require you to provide adequate security or exercise other options to mitigate possible risks.

Checks with multiple signatures

We may act on the instructions of any one authorized signer on your account and not require multiple signatures. If you have indicated that more than one signature is required to transact on your account, you acknowledge and agree that such requirements are for your own control purposes only, and we won't be liable if a check or other transaction is processed without multiple signatures. We're not responsible for reviewing your checks or other transactions for multiple signatures.

Checks with dates and special instructions

We may pay the amount encoded on your check in U.S. dollars, even if you wrote the check in a foreign currency or made a notation on the check's face to pay it in a foreign currency. If we, in our sole discretion, pay a check or other item in a foreign currency, the applicable exchange rate may apply. For information on the applicable exchange rate, see "Applicable exchange rate" in the "Statements, Interest, and Other Account Information" section of this Agreement. The encoded amount is in the line along the bottom edge of the front of the check where the account number is printed.

We may, without inquiry or liability, pay a check even if it:

- Has special written instructions indicating we should refuse payment (e.g., "void after 30 days" or "void over $100"),
- Is stale-dated (i.e., the check's date is more than six months in the past), even if we're aware of the check's date,
- Is post-dated (i.e., the check's date is in the future), or
- Isn't dated.

Use of a facsimile or mechanical signature

If you use any device or machine to provide a faxed, electronic, computer generated or other mechanical signature (including a stamp on a check) it will be treated as if you had actually signed it.

ACH debit entries (Business accounts make note)

Under the ACH operating rules, certain types of ACH debit entries may only be presented on a consumer account. We'll have no obligation to pay, and no liability for paying, any consumer ACH debit entry on a business account.

Acceptable form for checks

Your checks must meet our standards, including paper stock and dimensions; we may refuse checks that don't or that cannot be processed by our equipment. Checks must include our name and address as provided by us. Certain check features, such as security features, may impair the quality of a check image. We're not responsible for losses that result from your failure to follow our check standards.

Checks presented by a non-customer

For these transactions, we require acceptable identification, which may include a fingerprint from the person presenting your check. We may not honor the check if the person refuses to provide us with requested identification. We may charge a fee for non-customers to cash a check.

Electronic check indemnifications

An "electronic check" and an "electronic returned check" means an electronic image of a paper check or paper returned check or the electronic information derived from it.

When we transfer or present an electronic check or electronic returned check, we provide the following warranties:

- Image Quality Warranty. We guarantee that the electronic image accurately represents all of the information on the front of the check as of the time that the original check is truncated, and the electronic information includes an accurate record of all MICR line information required for a substitute check and the amount of a check.
- No Double Debit Warranty. We guarantee that the warrantee won't receive a presentment of or otherwise be charged for an electronic check, an electronic returned check, the original check, a substitute check, or a paper or electronic representation of a paper substitute check, in a way that the warrantee will be asked to pay a check that it has already paid.

When we transfer an electronic check for collection or payment, we make the image quality warranty and the no double debit warranty to the transferee bank, any subsequent collecting bank, the paying bank, and the drawer. When we transfer an electronic returned check for return, we make the image quality warranty and the no double debit warranty to the transferee returning bank, the depository bank, and the owner.

Indemnities applicable to electronic checks and electronic returned checks. You will indemnify, defend, and hold us harmless from all liabilities, obligations, demands, and costs (including fees of legal counsel and accountants) awarded against or incurred by us (collectively, "losses and liabilities"), related to the transfer or return of an electronic check or an electronic returned check on your behalf. If we suffer any losses or liabilities related to a breach of the image quality warranty or the no double debit warranty, you will reimburse us and not hold us responsible or liable.

Indemnities applicable to remote deposit capture services (including Wells Fargo Mobile Deposit).

If a depository bank accepts the original check from which an electronic check is created and suffers losses due to the check having already been paid, we're required to indemnify and reimburse that bank. If we suffer any losses or liabilities related to that type of depository bank indemnity obligation, you will indemnify and reimburse us and not hold us responsible or liable.

Indemnities applicable to electronically created items. If we transfer or present an "electronically created item" and receive settlement or other consideration for it, we're required to indemnify and reimburse each transferee bank, any subsequent collecting bank, the paying bank, and any subsequent returning bank against losses that result from the fact that:

- The electronic image or electronic information is not derived from a paper check,
- The person on whose account the electronically created item is drawn didn't authorize its issuance or the payee stated on the item, or
- A person receives a transfer, presentment, or return of, or otherwise is charged for an electronically created item in such a way that the person is asked to make payment based on an item it has paid.

If we suffer any losses or liabilities related to that type of electronically created item indemnity obligation, you will indemnify and reimburse us and not hold us responsible or liable.

Requesting stop payment on a check

You may request a stop payment on a check if you allow us a reasonable amount of time to act on it; the same is true if you ask us to cancel a stop payment order. You can request a stop payment on wells Fargo.com, via our Mobile App, at a branch, or by calling us. We may verify that we have not already become obligated to pay the check from your account and can verify after we accept your stop payment order.

To issue a stop payment order on a check, we may request the following information:

- Your bank account number
- The check number or range of numbers
- The check amount or amounts
- The payee(s) name(s)
- The date on the check

We may, in our sole discretion, use only a portion of this information to identify the check.

We are not responsible for stopping payment on a check if you provide incorrect or incomplete information about the check.

Effective period for a stop payment order on a check

- A stop payment order on a check is valid for six months. We may pay a check once a stop payment order expires. You must request a new stop payment order if you don't want it to expire and we treat each renewal as a new order, and a new fee may apply.
- Your responsibility after we accept a stop payment on a check. Even if we return a check unpaid due to a stop payment order, you may still be liable to the holder of the check (e.g., a check cashing business).

Stop payment orders on ACH debit entries

You may request a stop payment order for an ACH debit entry that has not already been paid from your account. You can request a stop payment on wells Fargo.com, via our Mobile App, at a branch, or by calling us. To be effective, a stop payment order must be received in a time and manner that gives the Bank a reasonable opportunity to act on the applicable ACH debit entry. If you provide verbal instructions, we may require confirmation in writing. If such written confirmation isn't received, we may remove the stop payment order after 14 days. An instruction to revoke a stop payment order must be received in a time and manner that gives us a reasonable opportunity to act on it.

To place a stop payment order on an ACH debit entry, we may require that you provide the following information: (i) your account number, (ii) amount of the ACH debit entry, (iii) effective date, and (iv) payee name. We may request additional information and may, at our sole discretion, use only a portion of the required information in order to identify the ACH debit entry. We may be able to place a stop payment order based on the company identification (merchant ID) number of the sender/payee, but this may stop all ACH entries received from this sender/payee.

If you provide information that is incorrect or subject to change (for example, if the sender changes its company identification number or individual identification number), it may result in payment of the ACH debit entry. You acknowledge this risk and agree that you're responsible for notifying the sender of the ACH debit entry that your authorization has been revoked. Unless prohibited by law, you agree to indemnify and hold us harmless from, and against, any loss we incur as a result of our paying an ACH debit entry, if any of the information relied on in the stop payment order is incorrect or incomplete (or as a result of our not paying an ACH debit entry for which a valid stop payment order is in effect).

Stop payment

Applicable fees are described in the Consumer Schedule and Business Schedule.

Stopping payment on a preauthorized electronic fund transfer

If your account is a consumer account, you may stop payment on a preauthorized electronic fund transfer. See “Handling preauthorized payments” in the “Electronic Fund Transfer Services” section of this Agreement.

Post-dated checks

A post-dated check is a check you issue with a date in the future. We’re not responsible for waiting to honor the check unless you use a stop payment order for the check. You’re responsible for notifying us to cancel the stop payment order when you’re ready to have that check paid.

Restricted transactions

You must not use your account or any relationship you may have with us for any illegal purpose, including “restricted transactions” as defined in the Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act of 2006 and its implementing regulation, Regulation GG. In our discretion, we may block or otherwise prevent those transactions and, further, we may close the account or end our relationship with you.

Time Accounts (CDs)

CDs mature and are payable at the expiration of a specified term, which will be no less than seven calendar days after the date of deposit. The CD’s maturity date is the last day of the term for the CD and is printed on your receipt.

We may refer to a Time Account as a CD or Certificate of Deposit, even though we don’t issue a paper certificate when opening the account or require a paper certificate to close the account.

You may withdraw funds from your CD on the maturity date without a penalty. During the seven calendar days after the maturity date, which we refer to as the grace period, you can change the term, generally make withdrawals and additional deposits, or close the CD. No additional deposits to the CD are allowed outside this grace period. You may be charged a penalty if you make a withdrawal at any other time. See “Early withdrawal penalty and Regulation D penalty” in this section.

Unless you withdraw the funds, your CD will automatically renew at maturity:

- Typically for the same term unless we inform you at the time of account opening or prior to maturity of a different renewal term, and
- At our standard interest rate in effect on the maturity date for a new CD of the same term and amount, unless we have notified you otherwise.

At renewal, in addition to the interest rate and renewal term, we may change any other CD provision, subject to providing you notice as required by law. Wells Fargo may redeem and close your CD, at our option, if the balance falls below $1.00. This also applies to any CD that you may have within an IRA. We’ll treat any interest that is deposited into your CD during the previous term as principal for your new term.

IRA CDs and ESA CDs

You may have multiple accounts within your Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or Education Savings Account (ESA) plan. We no longer offer new IRAs or new ESAs. IRA CDs are only available for current IRA customers, and ESA CDs are only available for current ESA customers.

Your IRA/ESA plan balance on December 31 of each year represents the fair market value of your account. We report the fair market value, distributions from and contributions to your IRA/ESA, to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). If applicable, the IRS may impose penalties. Please consult your tax advisor.

Interest on your CD

The Annual Percentage Yield (APY) we disclose to you assumes the interest you earn will remain on deposit until your CD matures. If you withdraw your earned interest before maturity, your account will earn less interest over time and the actual APY will be less than the disclosed APY.

Term	CD Interest payment options*
	Monthly	Quarterly	Semi-Annually	Annually	At maturity
Less than 12 months (365 days)	X	X	X	Not available	X
12 months or more	X	X	X	X	Not available

*Interest payments for IRA/ESA CDs re-deposit monthly into your CD.

With the exception of IRA/ESA CDs, you may choose to have your interest payments re-deposited into your CD, transferred to a Wells Fargo checking or savings account, or paid by check if your CD has a minimum balance of $5,000.

Early withdrawal penalty and Regulation D penalty

Early withdrawal penalty (Fixed Rate CDs and Fixed Rate IRA/ESA CDs): Other than the Regulation D penalty described below, any money you withdraw from your CD before the end of its term will be subject to an early withdrawal penalty based on the length of the CD term.

CD Term	Penalty
less than 90 days (or less than 3 months*)	1 month's interest
90 through 365 days (or 3-12 months*)	3 months' interest
Over 12 months through 24 months	6 months' interest
Over 24 months	12 months' interest

* Some CD terms are based on days and others are based on months. Check your receipt for the term applicable to your CD.

We calculate the early withdrawal penalty using the amount of principal you withdraw at your CD's interest rate at the time of withdrawal. The penalty is calculated by multiplying the interest rate by the amount of principal withdrawn then dividing that total by 12 to arrive at one month's interest. We'll deduct your early withdrawal penalty from your earned interest. If the penalty is greater than your earned interest, then we'll deduct the difference from the principal amount of your CD.

Regulation D Penalty: The Regulation D penalty is seven days' simple interest on the amount withdrawn and applies to the following:

- Withdrawals made within seven days of account opening including the day the account was opened.
- Withdrawals made during the grace period, when additional deposits are made during the grace period and the withdrawal exceeds the amount of the matured CD balance.
- Withdrawals within seven days of any prior withdrawal where the Bank's early withdrawal penalty is not applied.

Exceptions to the early withdrawal penalty and the Regulation D penalty (Fixed Rate CDs):

- Death of the CD owner
- Death of the grantor of a revocable family/living trust
- Court determination that a CD owner is legally incompetent

Exceptions to the early withdrawal penalty and the Regulation D penalty (Fixed Rate IRA/ESA CDs):

- Death of the IRA CD or ESA CD owner
- Court determination that an IRA CD or ESA CD owner is legally incompetent
- IRA or ESA owner becomes disabled
- IRA owner is age 59 ½ or older
- IRA or ESA owner requests a revocation in writing within seven days of plan opening

Protecting Your Account and Your Information

Protection against unauthorized items

You acknowledge that there's a growing risk of losses resulting from fraud, including unauthorized items. To help prevent fraud on your account, you agree to take reasonable steps to ensure the integrity of your account and items drawn on your account or deposited to it. We recommend you take the following preventive measures (not an exhaustive list):

- Reconcile your account statements when received and promptly notify us of any problem.
- Promptly notify us if you don't receive an expected statement.
- Don't provide your account and routing numbers to unknown persons. Fraudsters may use this information to initiate fraudulent transactions against your account.
- Only write checks to people and businesses whom you know. Fraudsters may try to trick you by pretending to be friends and family, indicating you have won the lottery or sweepstakes, through online dating sites, or impersonating law enforcement.
- Don't deposit checks from people whom you don't know. Fraudsters often request that you deposit a fake check into your account, then request that you return some of the funds. After you return the funds, the check bounces, but you are still responsible to us for the full amount of the check you deposited.
- Write your checks in a manner to prevent others from adding words, numbers or making other changes without your authorization.
- Protect your checks from unauthorized use and theft by securing your supply of checks at all times (for example, never leave checks in an unlocked vehicle, or out in a visible location unattended), using tamper resistant checks, destroying checks you don't intend to use, and not signing blank checks. Check-related fraud is common. If you fail to take any of these preventive measures, we are not responsible for any losses that you may incur.

Additional protections for business accounts

Additional steps business customers should take to help reduce the risk of fraud on their accounts:

- Assign responsibilities for your business account to multiple individuals and periodically reassign duties. Have different people reconcile statements and withdraw funds.
- Watch for checks cashed out of sequence or made out to cash as flags for embezzlement.
- Review activity for unexpected fluctuations such as the percentage of cash deposits to total deposit size. Most businesses will keep a constant average.
- Notify us immediately when an authorized signer's authority ends so that their name can be removed from account access.
- Obtain insurance coverage for bank account fraud risks.
- Watch out for imposters impersonating vendors or if an alleged vendor changes their payment instructions.
- Only send trusted employees to deliver checks or make deposits.

Wells Fargo services to help prevent fraud on analyzed business accounts include:

- Positive pay, positive pay with payee validation, or reverse positive pay
- ACH fraud filter, and
- Payment Authorization service.

In addition, we recommend you use certain industry best practices such as dual custody. With dual custody, when one user initiates an action like a payment or a change in the set-up of a service, the action does not take effect until a second user approves the action using a different computer or mobile device.

Potential consequences if a business customer does not follow bank recommendations

For analyzed business accounts:

If we have expressly recommended that you use a fraud prevention service or industry best practice and you either (a) decide not to implement or use the recommended service or industry best practice or (b) fail to use it in accordance with the applicable service description or our other applicable documentation, then you are responsible for all losses that could have been prevented or mitigated by correct use of the recommended service or best practice.

For non-analyzed business accounts:

We may expressly recommend that you follow the established process for lost or stolen business checking or savings accounts. This may include (a) placement of an account restraint, (b) closure of your account to mitigate further loss, or (c) a combination of both of these practices.

You are responsible for future losses that could have been prevented or mitigated by correct use of the recommended process or best practice, unless the laws applicable to your account provide otherwise. We separately reserve the right to close your account at any time and in our sole discretion if you fail to implement the recommended process or best practice.

Nothing in this provision amends any other rights we may have under this Agreement, and you remain obligated to notify us of any unauthorized activity on your account in accordance with this Agreement and any other agreement you have with us.

Verifying your identity with your mobile device and your wireless company

Wells Fargo may collect, use, and retain personal or other information about you or your mobile device to assist in verifying your identity. We may rely on such information provided to us by your wireless company, and you authorize them to disclose:

- Your mobile number, name, address, email;
- Network status, customer type, customer role, billing type, mobile device identifiers (IMSI and IMEI), and other subscriber and device details to Wells Fargo and our service providers for the duration of the account relationship.

Review our Privacy Notice for how we treat your data. You represent that you're the owner of the mobile phone number or have the delegated legal authority to act on behalf of the mobile subscriber to provide this consent.

Statements, Interest, and Other Account Information

Statements and notices

We'll make available to you a statement of your account activity for each statement period, using the postal or email address associated with your account. We'll do the same with notices. If your delivery preference is electronic, we'll notify you by email that your statement or notice is available online. You must be at least 13 years old to receive online statements.

We'll send statements and notices to one owner of a jointly owned account, and you agree that owner is responsible for sharing copies of the information with all other owners. If you request that we send notices to an authorized signer, the authorized signer has the same responsibility. Online statements are available to each joint owner.

Your statement is considered received by you on the second business day after we mail it to you or, if your delivery preference is electronic, when it's available through online banking. You agree to this timing even if the postal or email address you provided us is invalid.

Checking accounts get a monthly account statement. Savings accounts generally get a quarterly account statement, but will get a monthly statement if you set up automatic transfers into your savings account, have electronic fund transfer activity in the account, or have a combined statement for your checking and savings accounts.

Combined statements

We may combine statements for accounts with at least one common owner, in which case we consider the first account listed on your statement as your primary account. We'll make available your account statement through the address listed for your primary account. Statements for accounts in a combined statement will be delivered according to the delivery preference of the primary account.

Any person with online access to the primary account will also have online viewing capability to all the information on the combined statement.

If you prefer that we not combine your statements, let us know and we'll keep them separate. This will apply to subsequent statements only, and this option isn't available for Prime Checking and Premier Checking accounts.

Changing statement period and fee period for checking and non-IRA savings accounts

We may change the statement period and fee period assigned to your account without advance notice. If your account is interest-bearing, these changes won't affect interest calculations, but they may affect the date we post interest to your account.

For all accounts except analyzed business accounts, if the first new fee period created by our change is fewer than 25 days, the Bank will automatically waive the monthly service fee for that period.

Check safekeeping and check image service

We don't return your physical paid checks in your statements. Instead, we make copies of your paid checks available online, by calling us, or at our branches. If for any reason we can't provide a copy of your check, we aren't liable for more than the face amount of the check.

You can enroll in our check image service. With this service, you'll receive images of your paid checks on your statement. See the "Service Fees" section of the Consumer Schedule or Business Schedule for specific applicable fees and additional details. This service isn't available with consumer savings accounts or Clear Access Banking.

If you have a combined statement, only the primary account is eligible for the monthly check image service.

When we provide a statement, we have made the check image available to you, even if we don't send originals or images with the statement. We'll destroy original checks after a reasonable period of time we determine. If for any reason we can't provide a copy of your check, we won't be liable for more than the face amount of the check. We cannot provide originals or images of checks that are sent to us as electronic transfers. Additionally, other banks may send us electronic images instead of original checks. In that case, we may provide a copy of the image, but not the original check.

Account statements or notices returned or undeliverable

Your account statements or notices will be considered unclaimed or undeliverable if

- Two or more account statements or notices are returned to us through the mail because of an incorrect address; or
- We notify you electronically that your account statement is available for online viewing, and we receive email notifications that our message is undeliverable.

In either event, we may

- Discontinue sending account statements and notices, and
- Destroy account statements and notices returned to us as undeliverable.

We won't attempt to re-deliver account statements and notices to you until you provide us with a valid postal or electronic address.

Change of address

You agree to promptly notify us of any change to your postal or email address. We'll change your postal or email address within a reasonable time after you request it. If you have a combined statement, any owner of the primary account can change the address of all accounts included in the combined statement. Unless you instruct otherwise, we may change the postal or electronic address only for the account(s) you specify or for all or some of your other account(s) with us.

We may update your address in our records without a request from you if (1) we identify a need to rely on another address you have provided us; or (2) we receive an address change notice from the U.S. Postal Service or information from another party in the business of providing correct address details that does not match the address in our records for your account or card.

Your responsibility to review account statements and notices and notify us of errors

You are obligated to:

- Examine your account statement promptly and carefully.
- Notify us promptly of any errors.
- Notify us within 30 days after we have made your account statement available to you of any unauthorized transaction on your account. Note: If the same person has made two or more unauthorized transactions and you fail to notify us of the first one within this 30-day period, we won't be responsible for unauthorized transactions made by the same wrongdoer.
- Notify us within six months after we have made your account statement available to you if you identify any unauthorized, missing, or altered endorsements on your items.

For specific information on unauthorized card transactions, see "Zero Liability protection" in the "Debit Cards and ATM Cards" section of this Agreement.

Consumer accounts only: Electronic fund transfers are subject to different time periods for notification of errors, as described in the "Electronic Fund Transfer Services" section of this Agreement. Common examples of electronic fund transfers are ATM, debit card, and Bill Pay transactions.

Responsibility to notify us of errors

If you fail to notify us of any unauthorized transaction, error, or claim for a credit or refund within the time frames specified above, your account statement will be considered correct and we won't be responsible for any unauthorized transaction, error, or claim for transactions included in the applicable statement.

Unauthorized transactions

A transaction is an unauthorized transaction when it's

- Missing a required signature or other evidence showing you have authorized it, or
- Altered (for example, the amount of a check or the payee's name is changed).

You can notify us of errors on your account statements by promptly

- Calling the telephone number listed on your account statement or in a notice, or
- Submitting a written report (if instructed by us) as soon as possible, but in any event within the specified time frames.

Actions we take when you report an unauthorized transaction: We investigate any reports of unauthorized activity on your account. After you submit a claim, we may require you to:

- Complete and return the claim form and any other documents we require,
- Notify law enforcement, and
- Cooperate fully with us in our investigation.

We can reverse any credit made to your account resulting from a claim of unauthorized transaction or error if you don't cooperate fully with us in our investigation or recovery efforts, or we determine the transaction was authorized.

For specific information on unauthorized card transactions, see "Zero Liability protection" in the "Debit Cards and ATM Cards" section of this Agreement.

Consumer accounts only: For specific information on unauthorized electronic fund transfers, see the "Electronic Fund Transfer Services" section of this Agreement.

Adverse claims against your account

An adverse claim occurs when

- Any person or entity makes a claim against your account or funds in your account,
- We believe a conflict exists between or among your account's owners, or
- We believe a dispute exists over who has account ownership or authority to withdraw funds from your account.

In these situations, we may take any of the following actions without any responsibility or liability to you:

- Continue to rely on the documents we have on file for your account.
- Honor the claim against your account funds if we're satisfied the claim is valid.
- Freeze all or a part of the funds in your account until we believe the dispute is resolved to our satisfaction.
- Close your account and send a check or other item for the available balance in your account payable to you or to you and each person or entity who claimed the funds.
- Pay the funds into an appropriate court and/or petition the court to resolve the dispute.

We also may charge any account you keep with us for our fees and expenses in taking these actions (including attorneys' fees and expenses, and court costs).

If you carry special insurance for employee fraud/embezzlement (Business accounts only)

If you have special insurance for employee fraud/embezzlement, we may require you to file your claim with your insurance company before making any claim against us. In such event, we'll consider your claim only after we have reviewed your insurance company's decision, and our liability to you, if any, will be reduced by the amount your insurance company pays you.

Restricting access to your account

If we suspect any suspicious, irregular, fraudulent, unauthorized or unlawful activities ("Questionable Activities"), we can prevent, delay or decline transactions, freeze all or some of the funds in any account with us that you keep or control, and otherwise restrict access to your account.

- If a state or federal agency requests us to restrict funds in your accounts, we will comply with their request as permitted under state or federal law, and notify you, unless otherwise prohibited by applicable law.
- If we suspect an owner is a victim of elder or vulnerable adult exploitation, we may file a report with the appropriate investigative agency, under applicable state law. We may notify all owners and authorized signers on your account and any third party you designate about the Questionable Activities, and our actions, unless otherwise prohibited by applicable law. We may also notify certain third parties who we reasonably believe are closely associated with you solely about the events that have created our concerns regarding the Questionable Activities.

We may continue to delay transactions or freeze funds for Questionable Activities until the earlier of when (i) our concerns about the Questionable Activities are resolved to our satisfaction, (ii) the time frame set forth in applicable law, or (iii) we receive a Court order that provides us direction. Unless otherwise required by applicable law to take any of the above actions, we may take these actions in our sole discretion and without liability to you.

Converting accounts

We can convert your account to another type of deposit account (by giving you any required notice) if:

- You use it inappropriately or fail to meet or maintain the account's requirements, including minimum balance requirements, or
- We determine an account is inappropriate for you based on your use, or
- We stop offering the type of account you have.

Terminating or suspending services

We can terminate or suspend specific services (for example, wire transfers) without closing your account and without prior notice to you. You can discontinue using a service at any time.

Obtaining credit reports or other reports about you

We can obtain a credit or other report about you and/or your co-owners and authorized signers to help us determine whether to open or keep an account. We can also obtain information from motor vehicle departments, other state agencies, and public records.

Sharing information about your account with others

Generally, if we don't have your consent, we won't share information about your account. However, we may share information about your account in accordance with our separately provided Privacy Notice.

Use of funds in customers' non-interest-bearing accounts

We may benefit from having the use of funds in customers' non-interest-bearing accounts. We may use these funds to reduce our borrowing from other sources, such as the Fed Funds market, or invest them in short-term investments, such as our Federal Reserve Account. Our use of funds as described in this paragraph has no effect or impact on your use of and access to funds in your account.

Interest-bearing accounts

Calculating the applicable interest rate: When you open an interest-bearing account, we provide a rate sheet listing the current interest rate and Annual Percentage Yield (APY) for your account. Interest-bearing accounts earn interest at a variable rate, except CDs. The interest rate may be as low as 0.00%, and we may change the interest rate for variable-rate accounts at any time. The interest rate may vary depending on your daily balances (tiered-rate account). We may pay the same interest rate on more than one tier. The tiers and corresponding interest rates are disclosed in the rate sheet.

We calculate interest using the daily collected balance method, applying a daily periodic rate to the collected balance in your account each day. Interest is calculated using a 365-day year, unless otherwise noted for business accounts in the Business Schedule. Interest compounds daily. For interest-bearing checking and savings accounts, it will be credited monthly.

Cash deposits begin accruing interest the same business day the deposit is credited to your account. If you deposit an item such as a check, interest begins accruing on the business day we receive credit for the item. For time accounts, interest begins to accrue on the business day you deposit non-cash items, such as checks.

Annual Percentage Yield (APY) and Annual Percentage Yield Earned (APYE): The Annual Percentage Yield (APY) is a percentage rate reflecting the total amount of interest paid on an account based on the interest rate and the frequency of compounding for a 365-day period. The Annual Percentage Yield Earned (APYE) is an annualized rate that reflects the relationship between the amount of interest actually earned on your account during the statement period and the average daily balance in the account for the statement period.

We calculate both your APY and APYE according to formulas established by federal regulations. The APYE appears on your account statement.

The right to require notice of withdrawal from your savings account: We may require seven days written notice before you withdraw money from your savings account.

Tax identification number certification requirements

U.S. Treasury regulations require us to determine the tax residency of all customers and payees who could receive income that is reportable to the IRS. We accomplish this by obtaining a Form W-9 from all U.S. taxpayers and a type of Form W-8 from all foreign customers.

- We use Form W-9 to document U.S. tax residency and obtain a Taxpayer Identification Number ("TIN") from the primary owner of each account. Until we have received the Form W-9 and TIN, we're required to apply backup withholding to any income earned.
- Foreign individuals (also referred to as nonresident aliens) and foreign entities document their tax residency outside the U.S. on the applicable type of Form W-8. That form also allows us to apply the correct withholding rate or exemption to your income earned in the U.S. If you don't provide a valid type of Form W-8, we're required to apply the 30% withholding rate, or in some cases, presume you're an uncertified U.S. taxpayer subject to backup withholding on all income and gross proceeds regardless of whether or not it's U.S. sourced.
- Accounts jointly owned by at least one foreign individual or entity must provide a Form W-8 or Form W-9, as applicable, for all of the joint owners.
- Foreign individuals provide a Form W-8BEN. Foreign entities that are the beneficial owner of the income provide a Form W-8BEN-E unless they can make a special withholding exemption claim and instead provide either a Form W-8EXP or Form W-8ECI.
- Entities that act as intermediaries or flow-through entities receiving income on behalf of someone else provide a Form W-8IMY. In some cases, that Form W-8IMY must also include a withholding statement that allocates the income to each of the beneficial owners and copies of the tax certification documentation for those underlying beneficial owners.

If you own your account as an individual or sole proprietor, upon your death, we must be provided with the estate's or successor's IRS Form W-9 or Form W-8. If these are not provided, we may either refuse to pay interest earned on your account from the date of your death or apply backup withholding on the income earned after the date of your death.

Your tax responsibility

You're responsible for paying applicable state and local sales taxes on your account fees. These taxes vary by location. You also agree to pay an amount equal to any other applicable taxes, including backup withholding tax. We will charge you for all the foregoing taxes and amounts. You also agree to pay an amount equal to any other applicable taxes, including backup withholding tax.

Applicable exchange rate

In addition to any applicable fees, we make money when we convert one currency to another currency for you. The exchange rate used when we convert one currency to another is set at our sole discretion, and it includes a markup. The markup is designed to compensate us for several considerations including, without limitation, costs incurred, market risks, and our desired return. The applicable exchange rate does not include, and is separate from, any applicable fees. The exchange rate we provide to you may be different from exchange rates you see elsewhere. Different customers may receive different rates for transactions that are the same or similar. The applicable exchange rate may vary based on such factors including, but not limited to, currency pair, transaction size, payment channel and product type, such as foreign currency cash, checks, remittances, and wire transfers. Foreign exchange markets are dynamic and rates fluctuate over time based on market conditions, liquidity, and risks. We're your arms-length counterparty on foreign exchange transactions. We may refuse to process any request for a foreign exchange transaction.

Communications about your account

Contacting you for servicing and collection: We may contact you by phone, text, email, or mail to service your account or collect amounts you owe us. You will provide us accurate and current contact information. We can contact you at any address, phone number, or email address you provide.

When you give us a phone number, you expressly consent that we (and any party acting on our behalf) may contact you by phone call or text message at that number. When we call you, you agree that we may leave prerecorded or artificial voice messages. You also agree that we may use automatic telephone dialing systems in connection with calls or text messages sent to any phone number you give us, even if the receiving number is a mobile phone or other service for which the party called may be charged.

Monitoring communications: We can monitor, record, and retain your communications with us at any time without further notice to anyone, unless the laws governing your account require further notice. Monitored and recorded communications include phone conversations, electronic messages and records, and other data transmissions.

Communicating with authorized signers: We may provide you or an authorized signer with information about your account. When we receive information from an authorized signer, we treat it as a communication from you. You agree to notify us promptly in writing if an authorized signer no longer has authority on your account.

Closing Accounts

If you close your account

You can request to close your account at any time. To close, the account must be in good standing (for example, it does not have a negative balance, or restrictions such as holds on funds, legal order holds, or court blocks). At closing, we'll assist you in withdrawing or transferring any remaining funds, bringing your account balance to zero. All outstanding items need to be processed and posted to your account and all deposits collected and posted to your account before it closes or items will be returned unpaid afterwards. You must redirect or cancel all scheduled deposits to and payments from (recurring or one-time, in each case) your account; otherwise, they may be returned unpaid after the account closes. We won't be liable for any loss or damage that may result from not honoring items or recurring deposits or payments that are presented or received after your account is closed (such as additional fees charged by a merchant or payee for a returned item).

During the process of closing your account:

- Interest-bearing accounts will stop earning interest.
- Overdraft Protection will be removed.
- All cards and linked accounts will be delinked.
- This Agreement continues to apply.

Closing a Prime Checking or Premier Checking account: When you ask us to close your Prime Checking or Premier Checking account, the closure may be delayed up to three business days if we receive your request during monthly statement processing.

When we can close your account

We may close your account at any time. If we close your account, we may send the remaining balance in your account by mail or credit it to another account you keep with us.

Electronic banking privileges end when account is closed

All of your electronic banking privileges will be terminated if your account is closed, except that you can view account activity, download statements and tax documents, and perform limited maintenance functions for at least 90 days after closure. If you're enrolled in online banking, refer to the Online Access Agreement for specific terms governing online access to your account.

Closing your account if the balance is zero

Accounts with a zero balance will continue to be charged applicable fees (like the monthly service fee) until you request to close your account. We may close an account with a zero balance on the fee period ending date or at month end without prior notification to you. Once an account is closed (either by you or us), no fees will be assessed on the account.

- To prevent closure by us, an account with a zero balance must have a qualifying transaction posted within the last two months of the most recent fee period ending date. IOLTA and RETA accounts require a qualifying transaction within ten months of the most recent fee period ending date.
- Examples of qualifying transactions are deposits and withdrawals made at a branch, ATM, online, mobile, or via telephone; one-time and recurring transfers made at a branch, ATM, online, mobile, or via telephone; automatic or electronic deposits, such as from payroll or government benefits; automatic or electronic payments, including Bill Pay; one time and recurring purchases or payments made using a card or mobile device; and checks paid from the account. IOLTA and RETA accounts are not eligible for ATM cards or debit cards.
- Bank-originated transactions, like monthly service or other fees, are not considered qualifying transactions that will prevent closure of an account with a zero balance.

Dormant accounts

Generally, an account with a positive balance becomes dormant if you do not initiate an account-related activity (as determined by the laws governing your account) for a specified period of time.

Checking accounts, savings accounts, and CDs: To avoid dormancy, initiate an account-related activity like depositing or withdrawing funds at a branch or ATM, or writing a check from the account. One-time and recurring automatic transactions such as pre-authorized transfers, payments and electronic deposits (including direct deposits), do not prevent the account from becoming dormant, unless otherwise specified by state law.

Generally, dormancy for:
Checking account	Savings account	CD
12 months	34 months	34 months after first renewal

If any account linked to your Prime Checking or Premier Checking account becomes dormant, that account will be delinked and any benefits will no longer apply (including any fee discount or waiver or special interest rates).

Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) and Education Savings Accounts (ESAs): Generally, your IRA and ESA (Savings or CD) will become dormant if you don't initiate an account-related activity as follows:

- Traditional IRA becomes dormant if you don't initiate an account-related activity for 34 months or more after you reach the age of 70 ½ (if you reached that age prior to January 1, 2020) or 72 (if you reached that age prior to January 1, 2020), 72 (if you did not reach age 70 ½ prior to January 1, 2020 but reached age 72 prior to January 1, 2023), 73 (if you reach age 72 after December 31, 2022 and age 73 before January 1, 2033), or 75 (if you attain the age 74 after December 31, 2032).
- Roth IRA won't become dormant unless we receive notification of your death, unless otherwise specified by state law
- ESA becomes dormant after the beneficial owner reaches age 30, unless otherwise specified by state law.

Safeguards for dormant accounts: We put safeguards in place to protect a dormant account, which may include restricting the following transactions:

- Transfers between your Wells Fargo accounts using your ATM/debit card
- Transfers by phone using our automated banking service
- Transfers or payments through online, mobile, and text banking (including Bill Pay)
- Wire transfers (incoming and outgoing)
- Contributions or transfers to IRA or ESA savings through online and mobile banking.

Normal monthly service fees and other fees continue to apply throughout the dormancy period.

When and how accounts escheat

If you do not contact us about your dormant account or initiate an account-related activity within the time period specified by applicable state unclaimed property laws (generally, three or five years), Wells Fargo will close your account and deliver your account funds to that state. This process is known as escheat. Account statements will no longer be accessible through online banking. To recover your account funds, you must file a claim with the state.

Prime Checking and Premier Checking accounts only: About two months before escheat of your checking account we'll delink all accounts, and any benefits associated with your Prime Checking or Premier Checking account will no longer apply. See the Consumer Schedule for benefits impacted. To reinstate your Prime Checking or Premier Checking account and associated benefits, you must contact us before your checking account escheats.

Consumer Accounts Only: Resolving Disputes Through Arbitration

Arbitration Agreement between you and Wells Fargo

If you have a dispute with us, we hope to resolve it as quickly and easily as possible. First, discuss your dispute with a banker. If your banker or another Wells Fargo employee is unable to resolve your dispute, you agree that either Wells Fargo or you can initiate arbitration as described in this section.

Definition: Arbitration means an impartial third party will hear the dispute between Wells Fargo and you and provide a decision. Binding arbitration means the decision of the arbitrator is final and enforceable. A dispute is any unresolved disagreement between Wells Fargo and you. A dispute may also include a disagreement about this Arbitration Agreement's meaning, application, or enforcement.

Wells Fargo and you each agree to waive the right to a jury trial or a trial in front of a judge in a public court. This Arbitration Agreement has only one exception: Either Wells Fargo or you may still take any dispute to small claims court.

Arbitration is beneficial because it provides a legally binding decision in a more streamlined, cost-effective manner than a typical court case. But, the benefit of arbitration is diminished if either Wells Fargo or you refuse to submit to arbitration following a lawful demand. Thus, the party that does not agree to submit to arbitration after a lawful demand must pay all of the other party's costs and expenses for compelling arbitration.

Neither Wells Fargo nor you will be entitled to join or consolidate disputes by or against others as a representative or member of a class, to act in any arbitration in the interests of the general public, or to act as a private attorney general. If any provision related to a class action, class arbitration, private attorney general action, other representative action, joinder, or consolidation is found to be illegal or unenforceable, the entire Arbitration Agreement will be unenforceable.

Applicable rules

Wells Fargo and you each agree that:

- The American Arbitration Association (AAA) will administer each arbitration and the selection of arbitrators according to the AAA's Consumer Arbitration Rules (AAA Rules).
- If there are any differences between the AAA Rules and this Arbitration Agreement, this Arbitration Agreement applies. If this Arbitration Agreement is in dispute, the arbitrator will decide whether it is enforceable.
- Wells Fargo and you are participating in commercial transactions involving the movement of money or goods among states.
- The Federal Arbitration Act (Title 9 of the United States Code) governs this Arbitration Agreement and any arbitration between Wells Fargo and you. If the Act or any part of it is inapplicable, unenforceable or invalid, the state laws governing your relationship with Wells Fargo govern this Arbitration Agreement.

Either Wells Fargo or you may submit a dispute to binding arbitration at any time, regardless of whether a lawsuit or other proceeding has previously begun. For information on initiating arbitration, contact the AAA at 1-800-778-7879.

Each arbitrator must be a licensed attorney with expertise in the laws applicable to the dispute's subject matter. The arbitrator will make a decision regarding the dispute based on applicable law, including any statutes of limitations. The arbitrator may award to either Wells Fargo or you any award or relief provided for by law.

Fees and expenses

- Setting the fees/expenses: We will pay any costs that are required to be paid by us under the arbitration administrator's rules and procedures, and subject to applicable law. If the arbitrator rules in your favor on any claim presented, we will reimburse you for arbitration filing fees you have paid up to $700.00. Please check with the arbitration administrator to determine the fees applicable to any arbitration you file.
- Applying state law: The laws governing your account may limit the amount of fees and expenses you are required to pay in arbitration. Your arbitration fees and expenses will not exceed any applicable limits.
- Paying for attorney/expert/witness fees: Unless applicable laws state otherwise, each party will pay its own attorney, expert, and witness fees. This rule applies no matter which party wins arbitration.

Additional dispute resolution

Wells Fargo or you each can exercise any lawful rights or use other available remedies to:

- Preserve or obtain possession of property,
- Exercise self-help remedies, including setoff rights, or
- Obtain provisional or ancillary remedies such as injunctive relief, attachment, garnishment, or appointment of a receiver by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Arbitration location

An arbitration will be held in the state whose laws govern your account.

Business Accounts Only: Resolving Disputes Through Arbitration

Arbitration Agreement between you and Wells Fargo

If you have a dispute with us, we hope to resolve it as quickly and easily as possible. First, discuss your dispute with a banker. If your banker or another Wells Fargo employee is unable to resolve your dispute, you agree that either Wells Fargo or you can initiate arbitration as described in this section.

Definition: Arbitration means an impartial third party will hear the dispute between Wells Fargo and you and provide a decision. Binding arbitration means the decision of the arbitrator is final and enforceable. A “dispute” is any unresolved disagreement between Wells Fargo and you. A “dispute” may also include a disagreement about this Arbitration Agreement’s meaning, application, or enforcement.

Except as stated in “No waiver of self-help or provisional remedies” below, Wells Fargo and you agree, at Wells Fargo’s or your request, to submit to binding arbitration all claims, disputes, and controversies between or among Wells Fargo and you (and their respective employees, officers, directors, attorneys, and other agents), whether in tort, contract or otherwise arising out of or relating in any way to your account(s) and/or service(s), and their negotiation, execution, administration, modification, substitution, formation, inducement, enforcement, default, or termination (each, a “dispute”). DISPUTES SUBMITTED TO ARBITRATION ARE NOT RESOLVED IN COURT BY A JUDGE OR JURY. TO THE EXTENT ALLOWED BY APPLICABLE LAW, WELLS FARGO AND YOU EACH IRREVOCABLY AND VOLUNTARILY WAIVE THE RIGHT EACH MAY HAVE TO A TRIAL BY JURY FOR ANY DISPUTE ARBITRATED UNDER THIS AGREEMENT.

Aside from self-help remedies, this Arbitration Agreement has only one exception: Either Wells Fargo or you may still take any dispute to small claims court. Arbitration is beneficial because it provides a legally binding decision in a more streamlined, cost-effective manner than a typical court case. But, the benefit of arbitration is diminished if either Wells Fargo or you refuse to submit to arbitration following a lawful demand. Thus, the party that does not agree to submit to arbitration after a lawful demand by the other party must pay all of the other party’s costs and expenses for compelling arbitration.

Class action or representative suit not permitted

Wells Fargo and you agree that the resolution of any dispute arising pursuant to the terms of this Agreement will be resolved by a separate arbitration proceeding and will not be consolidated with other disputes or treated as a class. Neither Wells Fargo nor you will be entitled to join or consolidate disputes by or against others as a representative or member of a class, to act in any arbitration in the interests of the general public, or to act as a private attorney general. If any provision related to a class action, class arbitration, private attorney general action, other representative action, joinder, or consolidation is found to be illegal or unenforceable, the entire Arbitration Agreement will be unenforceable.

Applicable rules

Wells Fargo and you each agree that the arbitration will:

- Proceed in a location mutually agreeable to Wells Fargo and you, or if the parties cannot agree, in a location selected by the American Arbitration Association (AAA) in the state whose laws govern your account
- Be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act (Title 9 of the United States Code), notwithstanding any conflicting choice of law provision in any of the documents between Wells Fargo and you
- Be conducted by the AAA, or such other administrator as Wells Fargo and you will mutually agree upon, in accordance with the AAA’s commercial dispute resolution procedures, unless the claim or counterclaim is at least $1,000,000 exclusive of claimed interest, arbitration fees and costs in which case the arbitration will be conducted in accordance with the AAA’s optional procedures for large, complex commercial disputes (the commercial dispute resolution procedures or the optional procedures for large, complex commercial disputes to be referred to, as applicable, as the “rules”).

If there is any inconsistency between the terms hereof and any such rules, the terms and procedures set forth herein will control. Any party who fails or refuses to submit to arbitration following a lawful demand by any other party will bear all costs and expenses incurred by such other party in compelling arbitration of any dispute. Nothing contained herein will be deemed to be a waiver by Wells Fargo of the protections afforded to it under 12 U.S.C. Section 91 or any similar applicable state law.

No waiver of self-help or provisional remedies

1. Exercise self-help remedies, including setoff or
2. Obtain provisional or ancillary remedies such as injunctive relief or attachment, before, during, or after the pendency of any arbitration proceeding. This exclusion does not constitute a waiver of the right or obligation of either party to submit any dispute to arbitration or reference hereunder, including those arising from the exercise of the actions detailed in (1) and (2) above.

Arbitrator's qualifications and power

Any dispute in which the amount in controversy is $5,000,000 or less will be decided by a single arbitrator selected according to the rules, and who will not render an award of greater than $5,000,000. Any dispute in which the amount in controversy exceeds $5,000,000 will be decided by majority vote of a panel of three arbitrators; provided however, that all three arbitrators must actively participate in all hearings and deliberations. Each arbitrator will be a neutral attorney licensed in the state whose laws govern your account, or a neutral, retired judge in such state, in either case with a minimum of ten years' experience in the substantive law applicable to the subject matter of the dispute to be arbitrated. The arbitrator(s) will determine whether or not an issue is arbitratable and will give effect to the statutes of limitation in determining any claim.

In any arbitration proceeding the arbitrator(s) will decide (by documents only or with a hearing at the discretion of the arbitrator(s)) any pre-hearing motions which are similar to motions to dismiss for failure to state a claim or motions for summary adjudication. The arbitrator(s) will resolve all disputes in accordance with the substantive law of the state whose laws govern your account and may grant any remedy or relief that a court of such state could order or grant within the scope hereof and such ancillary relief as is necessary to make effective any award. The arbitrator(s) will also have the power to award recovery of all costs and fees, to impose sanctions, and to take such other action as deemed necessary to the same extent a judge could pursuant to the federal rules of civil procedure, the state rules of civil procedure for the state whose laws govern your account, or other applicable law. Judgment upon the award rendered by the arbitrator(s) may be entered in any court having jurisdiction. The institution and maintenance of an action for judicial relief or pursuit of a provisional or ancillary remedy will not constitute a waiver of the right of any party, including the plaintiff, to submit the controversy or claim to arbitration if any other party contests such action for judicial relief.

Discovery

In any arbitration proceeding, discovery will be permitted in accordance with the rules. All discovery will be expressly limited to matters directly relevant to the dispute being arbitrated and must be completed no later than 20 days before the hearing date. Any requests for an extension of the discovery periods, or any discovery disputes, will be subject to final determination by the arbitrator upon a showing that the request for discovery is essential for the party's presentation and that no alternative means for obtaining information is available.

Fees and expenses

The arbitrator will award all costs and expenses of the arbitration proceeding.

Additional rules for an arbitration proceeding

To the maximum extent practicable, the AAA, the arbitrator(s), Wells Fargo and you will take all action required to conclude any arbitration proceeding within 180 days of the filing of the dispute with the AAA. The arbitrator(s), Wells Fargo or you may not disclose the existence, content, or results thereof, except for disclosures of information by Wells Fargo or you required in the ordinary course of business, by applicable law or regulation, or to the extent necessary to exercise any judicial review rights set forth herein. If more than one agreement for arbitration by or between Wells Fargo and you potentially applies to a dispute, the arbitration agreement most directly related to your account or the subject matter of the dispute will control. This arbitration agreement will survive the closing of your account or termination of any service or the relationship between Wells Fargo and you.

The right to pursue claims in small claims court

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, Wells Fargo and you each retains the right to pursue in small claims court a dispute within that court's jurisdiction. Further, this arbitration agreement will apply only to disputes in which either party seeks to recover an amount of money (excluding attorneys' fees and costs) that exceeds the jurisdictional limit of the small claims court.

Additional Terms and Services

Laws governing your account

This Agreement, your accounts, services and any related disputes are governed by United States law and (when not superseded by United States law) the laws of the state where your account is located (without regard to conflict of laws principles). We may move your account to a different state, and will notify you if we do so.

Where your account is located:

- If you apply through one of our branches, then the account is located in the state where the branch is located.
- If you apply online, phone or by mail, then the account is located in the state associated with your home ZIP code at the time of account opening if we have a branch in that state when the account is opened.
- In all other cases, your account will be located in California.

For consumer and business accounts (except analyzed business accounts), your account statement identifies which state's terms and conditions apply.

Any funds transfer (including a wire transfer) that is a remittance transfer as defined in Regulation E, Subpart B, will be governed by the laws of the United States and, to the extent applicable, the laws of the state of New York, including New York's version of Article 4A of the Uniform Commercial Code, without regard to its conflict of laws principles.

Controlling language

English is the controlling language of our relationship with you, including the terms of this Agreement. Items you write such as checks or withdrawal slips must be written in English. For your convenience, we may, but are not obligated to (unless required by law), translate some forms, disclosures, and advertisements into another language, but if there's a discrepancy, the English version prevails over the translation.

Order of precedence between agreements

If a service we offer has a separate agreement, and there's a conflict between the terms of this Agreement and the separate agreement, the conflicting terms of the separate agreement will apply.

Legal process

Legal process includes any levy, garnishment or attachment, tax levy or withholding order, injunction, restraining order, subpoena, search warrant, government agency request for information, forfeiture or seizure, and other legal process relating to your account.

We may accept and act on any legal process we believe to be valid regardless of how and where it is served, including if process is served in locations, states, or jurisdictions other than where the account was opened or where the account, property, or records are located.

We may, but are not required to, provide notice of legal process relating to your accounts. We may comply with legal process even though it affects the interests of only one owner or authorized signer of a joint account. Regardless of any action we take, we are not waiving any rights of exemption you may have under any federal or state laws. You are responsible for invoking any exemption rights not otherwise asserted on your behalf.

Any fees, expenses (including attorneys' fees and expenses), or losses we incur as a result of responding to legal process related to your account are your responsibility. We may charge these costs to any account you maintain with us.

If legal process relates to an account or accounts that appear on a combined statement, we may release the entire combined statement, even if that means that we release information related to accounts not otherwise governed by this Agreement.

Legal dispute location

Any lawsuit, claim, or other proceeding arising from or relating to your account or this Agreement, will take place exclusively in the state or federal courts in the state whose laws govern your account, without regard to conflict of laws principles. This includes enforcement of the Arbitration Agreement and entry of judgment on any arbitration award.

Changes to this Agreement

We may change the terms of this Agreement, including account fees and features, at any time by adding new terms or conditions, or by modifying or deleting existing ones. If we're required to notify you of a change to this Agreement, we'll describe the change and its effective date in a message within your account statement or by any other appropriate means. We may agree in writing to waive a term of this Agreement, including a fee, and we may revoke any waiver.

Modification of invalid terms

Any term of this Agreement that is inconsistent with the laws governing your account will be excluded to the extent of such invalidity. The invalid term will be considered modified by us and applied in a manner consistent with such laws. Such modification won't affect the enforceability or validity of the remaining terms of this Agreement.

Timing of notices

Any notice you send us is effective once we receive it and have a reasonable opportunity to act on it.

Responsibilities and liabilities between Wells Fargo and you

We're responsible for exercising ordinary care and complying with this Agreement.

When we take an item for processing by automated means, ordinary care does not require us to examine the item. In all other cases, ordinary care requires only that we follow standards that don't vary unreasonably from the general standards followed by similarly situated banks.

Except to the extent we fail to exercise ordinary care or to comply with this Agreement, and to the extent permitted by applicable federal or state laws, you agree to indemnify and hold us harmless from all claims, demands, losses, liabilities, judgments, and expenses (including attorneys' fees and expenses) arising out of or in any way connected with our performance under this Agreement. This indemnification will survive termination of this Agreement.

We won't be liable for anything we do when following your instructions. In addition, we won't be liable if we don't follow your instructions if we reasonably believe that your instructions would expose us to potential loss or civil or criminal liability, or conflict with customary banking practices. In no event will either Wells Fargo or you be liable to the other for any special, consequential, indirect, or punitive damages. The limitation doesn't apply where the laws governing your account prohibit it. We won't have any liability to you if your account does not have sufficient available funds to pay your items due to actions we have taken in accordance with this Agreement.

Circumstances beyond your control or ours may arise and make it impossible for us to provide services to you or for you to perform your duties under this Agreement. If this happens, neither Wells Fargo nor you will be in breach of this Agreement. If we waive a right with respect to your account on one or more occasions, it does not mean we're obligated to waive the same right on any other occasion.

Your obligation to pay our fees

We're permitted to either directly debit your account or bill you for our fees, expenses and taxes incurred in connection with your account and any service. If the available funds in your account are not sufficient to cover the debit, we may create an overdraft on your account.

Setoff and security interest

Our setoff rights: If you owe us any money, we have the right to apply funds in any of your accounts to pay your debt. This is known as setoff. When we exercise this right, we reduce the funds in your account(s) by the amount of the debt that is due or past due as allowed by the laws governing your account. Unless required by law, we do not need to give you any prior notice to exercise our right of setoff.

A debt includes any amount you owe individually or together with someone else both now or in the future. It includes any overdrafts and our fees. If your account is a joint account, we may setoff funds in it to pay the debt of any joint owner.

If your account is an unmatured CD, then we may deduct an early withdrawal penalty. This may be due as a result of our having exercised our right of setoff. See "Early withdrawal penalty and Regulation D penalty" in the "Time Accounts (CDs)" section of this Agreement.

Consumer accounts only: Our right to setoff extends to any federal or state benefit payments (including Social Security benefits) deposited to your account, subject to applicable law. If we're obligated to return any federal or state benefits deposited to your accounts after you're no longer eligible to receive them, we may setoff against any of your accounts to recover the payments you were ineligible to receive. Our right of setoff won't apply if it would invalidate the tax-deferred status of any tax-deferred retirement account (e.g., a SEP or an IRA) you keep with us.

Security interest: In addition to granting us the right of setoff, and to ensure you pay us all amounts you owe us under this Agreement (e.g., overdrafts and fees), you grant us a security interest in each account you keep with us. By opening and keeping each account with us, you consent to our asserting our security interest should the laws governing this Agreement require your consent. Our rights under this security interest are in addition to and apart from any other rights under any other security interest you may have granted to us.

You may not grant a security interest in, transfer, or assign your accounts to anyone other than us without our written agreement.
